BRIAND AGREES TO ENTER RACE FOR PRESIDENT

CONSTRUES HIS ACT AS DUTY DUE NATION

Doumer, Senate Chief, and Hennessy, Rich Liquor Man, Will Run.

Paris, May 11 (A.P.).—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, formally announced tonight his candidacy for the presidency of the French republic.

He waited until 30 representatives of all moderate and liberal groups in the chamber and senate crowded into his office and declared it was his obligation to submit his name for the elections next Wednesday. He replied that the interpretation given to his candidacy by the delegation would not permit him to escape the appeal and, consequently, it was his duty to leave himself in the hands of his friends.

Speaking for the group, Gaston Thomson, dean of the moderates, told the veteran foreign minister it was no time for him to consider the question of party differences or personal convenience, but it was his duty to the nation to become a presidential candidate.

Doumer Is Notified.

On accepting the honor M. Briand asked the delegation to visit Paul Doumer, president of the senate, whose candidacy was announced last week, and inform him of the decision. M. Thomson did this and announced M. Doumer had decided to stand by his own candidacy.

M Doumer told the delegation that in his opinion M. Briand would do better to remain in the foreign office and continue his peace work. Briand was reported to have paid the senate president a discreet visit during the afternoon and to have told him that he (Briand) had not yet decided on his candidacy.

By staying in the running M. Doumer has in effect accepted the support of the Conservatives who had already rallied to his cause. He was abandoned by his own Democratic left group in the Senate before M. Briand announced he was a candidate.

At a meeting a few hours earlier 70 of 157 members of the Democratic left group, the largest in the Senate, decided to permit their confreres to select their own candidate on the first ballot and to choose the leading left candidate on the second. It was the strongest move they could in courtesy make against the Senate president and in favor of the foreign minister.

If M. Briand wins in the elections he will become president a month later. This, his friends say, will give him time to work on his plan for a European economic union. In any event, he will go to Geneva next Friday for the meeting of the Pan-Europa organization committee, over which he will preside. If he becomes president of France, he will retain the chair at Geneva until a successor is appointed.

Jean Hennessy, wealthy French distiller, made known through friends today that he would enter the race.

Poincare Urges Doumergue.

A rumor was current late tonight that former Premier Poincare had appealed to President Doumergue to be candidate for reelection against M. Briand.

The rumor apparently arose from the publication of a letter contributed by M. Poincare to the Journal de Commerce, in which he eulogized the Doumergue administration and urged there be no mention of a successor until all means were exhausted to persuade him to desist from his resolution "not to seek reelection."

It was pointed out, however, the letter was undated and was probably written several days ago, before Briand had announced his candidacy.

Italian Woman Tells Of Fascist Economics

(Associated Press.)

The Fascist economic organization was described yesterday by the only woman delegate to the recent meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce as a "unique example of progressive conservation."

Signora Olivia Rosetti Agresti, of Rome, in an address over the Columbia Broadcasting System, said the system "has been found of great service in enabling the country to weather the storm of world economic depression with fewer unemployed and less severe distress than has been experienced in other and far wealthier European countries."

OVERTIME OF JURY IS PLEA FOR RETRIAL

Defense in Rum Plot Case Attempts to Set Aside Conviction of 11.

In an effort to gain a retrial for the eleven men found guilty two weeks ago of conspiring to violate the national prohibition laws, defense attorneys yesterday presented to Justice Oscar Luhring statements from three of the jury members which were used to bolster the defense claims that the jury was kept locked up too long. Thirty-two hours were taken by the jury in its deliberations.

The jurors were Rudolph Hower, Thomas C. Cooling, and Samuel Farran. Cooling said that he couldn't remember voting on the verdict; that he couldn't stand up and that he was in a daze.

Farran, who said that he began the deliberations with a "not guilty" frame of mind, claimed that he was made ill through the long hours in the jury room, and that as a result, he was confined to his bed from April 30 to May 5. Hower said that he voted not guilty from the start, but that he was sick and wished to get home to receive medical attention. Assistant District Attorney James Kirkland represented the Government.

Other reasons cited to Justice Luhring for a new trial were misconduct of the prosecution, the length of time the jury was locked up, and the failure of the justice to properly charge the jury in regard to the evidence of two men who had pleaded guilty. The jury should have been told, in effect, that they should view with great suspicion the testimony of such witnesses, it is claimed.

Justice Luhring took the motion under advisement.

Mrs. Nelson Doubleday Joins Colony at Reno

Reno, Nevada, May 11 (A.P.).—Mrs. Martha Nicholson Doubleday, wife of Nelson Doubleday, New York publisher, arrived in Reno yesterday prepared for a six weeks' residence.

Mrs. Doubleday was met by her attorney, Lester D. Summerfield, who admitted divorce might be her reason for coming to Reno, but said he could not discuss the case at this time.

Morton Downey's Wife Gravely Ill in New York

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Barbara Bennett, former stage star and wife of Morton Downey, radio tenor, was reported by attending physicians today to be dangerously ill in Fifth Avenue Hospital. She underwent an operation Thursday.

Her condition was reported improved over the past two days. She has been semiconscious part of the time.

Fire Destroys Castle Of Countess Szechenyi

Kaschau, Czechoslovakia, May 11 (A.P.).—A magnificent castle owned by Countess Gladys Szechenyi, wife of the Hungarian Minister at Washington, was destroyed by fire today at Rybnicine Hamry.

The blaze was alleged to have resulted from careless handling of a candle by a plumber.

Three-Floor Plunge May Kill Boy, 3

The curiosity which is a child's is expected to cause the death of three-year-old Junior R. Wall, who fell yesterday from the third-floor fire escape landing in the apartment building at 1205 Thirtieth street northwest which is his home.

At Georgetown Hospital the boy was found to have a fractured skull, broken arm, both legs broken and internal injuries. He was not expected to live through the night.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Wall, the parents, had left the apartment earlier, leaving Junior in the care of his 10-year-old sister, Elsie. Missing her brother a short time later, she went to the fire escape and saw his prostrated form below.

A neighbor took him to the hospital.

Capone Threatens Chicago Cleaners

Industry Chief Declares Gang Leader Demands Half of Receipts.

Chicago, May 11 (A.P.).—Dr. B. M. Squires, chairman of the Cleaners and Dyers Institute of Chicago, declared today that Al Capone, gangland chief, had threatened to seize control of the industry if he were not paid at least one-half of the yearly receipts. The institute is composed ofq 98 cleaning and dyeing firms.

Dr. Squires said Capone first demanded three-fourths of the annual receipts for policing the industry, destroying competition and forcing independent firms "into line" and later threatened that if he were not "retained" for one-half the annual receipts he would seize control himself.

Today a meeting of 86 of the institute's members unanimously voted not to accept any gang demands.

The city's cleaning and dyeing industry for many years was a prize much fought for in gangland. Bombings, sabotage, shootings and sluggings caused many casualties and much property loss.

King of Siam Resting Well After Operation

New York, May 11 (U.P.).—Physicians attending the King of Siam tonight authorized the following bulletin following the operation on a cataract on his eye:

"His majesty, the king, had a very good night and slept almost without interruption. He has no pain in his eye."

Group Petitions Hoover To Assist Unemployed

(Associated Press.)

A delegation of six women and five children called at the White House yesterday to urge President Hoover to call a special session of Congress "to do something for the unemployed." They were received by Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, who said he would give their petition to the President.

Those who called were: Mrs. Anna Coppola, of New Haven, Conn., and her son, Michael; Mrs. Armita Johnson, of Cedar Grove, W. Va.; Mrs. Pearl Shiflet and boy, Joseph, of Ward, W. Va.; Mrs. J. O. Morrison and her son, Eugene, of Danville, Va.; Mrs. James O'Donnell and her daughter, Edith, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Jennie Alletag and her daughter, Mary, of New Bedford, Mass.

AUSTRIA, HUNGARY, ITALY IN NEW PACT

Three-Nation Trade Treaties Held Significant in Political Circles.

Rome, May 11 (A.P.).—Commercial treaties among Italy, Austria and Hungary, announced unexpectedly today, were being regarded in political circles tonight at filled with great importance because of their possible bearing on the future of European trade.

No details of the accords were announced, but it was officially stated their importance was purely commercial.

All other nations were invited to join the three-cornered agreement, which led some observers to draw a parallel between these treaties and the Austro-German proposal. Government circles, however, disclaimed any intention to organize a substitute move for the latter accord, which is one of the main problems to come before the League of Nations Council at Geneva.

Foreign Minister Grandi left tonight for Geneva, where he will meet with Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Great Britain to discuss naval and economic questions. In some quarters here it was stressed the completion of the three-cornered economic pact might have been considered a preliminary maneuver to the Geneva discussions.

It was believed the Italo-Russian trade agreement, recently renewed, probably served as a basis for the trinational agreements. Under the Russian treaty the Italian government agreed to guarantee the credits on a large part of the goods sold by Italians to Russia. Under the treaties announced today, however, it was said all countries would participate in the credits, probably by each caring for its own nationals.

Foreign Minister Grandi had a long conference with Premier Mussolini yesterday, supposedly over the plan for the Italian discussions at Geneva.

Some time ago Italy made a thorough examination of the economic aspects of the proposed Austro-German accord, with regard to its effect on Italian trade, but there has been little indication as to whether Italy actually favors the Austro-German plan or opposes it.

No attempt was made in the triple treaties to touch tariff schedules. In this the treaties differ from the Austro-German proposals.

ECONOMY DRIVE TO DOOM SOME ARMY STATIONS

POLITICAL MOTIVE SEEN IN PROPOSALS

Fight of Congress Member in Affected Vicinity Is Predicted.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

A military map would show that there are about 185 Army posts in the United States, located along the coasts, near the borders and in the interior. They range from large posts crowded with men and bustling with activity to small posts with less than a squad of soldier caretakers.

In the wake of the War Department economy conference at Rapidan over the week-end, there came announcements yesterday indicating that some of these posts are destined to go.

Secretary of War Hurley admitted yesterday that the Army general staff is considering the abandonment or consolidation of some of the posts.

Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), of Indiana, chairman of the House appropriations committee, was more specific. He declared that there were some 40 Army posts, principally Coast Artillery posts, which are "absolutely useless," and which ought to be abandoned in the interest of keeping down the next national budget and avoiding a tax increase.

Hurley and Wood Present.

Both Secretary Hurley and Chairman Wood were among those who journeyed down to the Rapidan camp over the week-end to talk over War Department matters with President Hoover and to try and devise some means of cutting down that department's budget.

Next week-end, it was announced at the White House yesterday, President Hoover will have as his guests at Rapidan Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and other officials of the Interior Department. Presumably economy will be the topic on that occasion also.

A political motive was seen in the President's economy drive by Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, the ranking Democrat on the House appropriations committee.

"The sudden concern of the President and Republican leaders relative to Federal expenditures for the fiscal year of 1932 is not surprising," he said last night, "when it is remembered that this fiscal year closes shortly before the November election."

No Great Saving.

Not a great deal can be saved from scrapping Army posts, judging from a study of the Army's budget. The total spent now for maintaining these posts is between $18,000,000 and $20,000,000, and most of this, naturally, goes for the maintenance of those larger posts which are regarded as permanent.

Some money, of course, could be realized from the sale of the land once the posts were abandoned.

Two difficulties stand in the way of persuading Congress to agree to the abandonment of Army posts. Some of the posts have a historical, and, therefore, a sentimental value, while others have an economic value—that

Silver's Value Looms As '32 Campaign Issue

Senator King Plans Conference With Stimson Today to Urge International Parley; Says Stabilization Would Aid U. S. Employment.

(United Press.)

Silver, which to this generation of Americans is another name for small change, has suddenly reappeared as a serious public issue after a sleep of 30 years.

The International Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution last week urging a world conference on silver. A State Department expert has been assigned to study the international ramifications of the situation. President Hoover's mail on the subject is growing heavy. But most important as a weather sign, silver has been taken up by Senator William E. Borah, whose instinct for popular political theme songs is as sure as was the elder Roosevelt's. His radio speech on silver Sunday night was the first of many discussions which this Western senator will throw into the troubled situation.

Prediction that restoration of silver values will be an issue in the next campaign was made yesterday by Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, one of the leading prosilver group. He intends to confer with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson today to urge further an international conference. Mr. King was in conference yesterday with Tsuyee Fei, manager of the Bank of China at Shanghai, who will shortly consult with British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald seeking an agreement with the British to cease "dumping" of Indian silver pending an international conference.

"Silver is both an economic and a political question," Mr. King said. "It is bound to be a factor in the next campaign. The whole credit system of the world is now involved in the movement. It goes to the basis of trade and commerce. Stabilization of silver would mean for the United States alone solution of the unemployment question, increased value for farm products and materially increased foreign trade."

Mr. King said that an international conference could not only limit dumping of silver and increase the use of silver in minor coins, replacing copper and nickel, but a system of international certificates could be established by which, through treaties, countries could agree to honor certificates for face value based upon silver deposited with the issuing government. Mr. King's most significant proposal was that the countries "could agree upon the stabilization of silver on some basis such as 20 to 1 with gold, which would give silver a monetary value everywhere."

The Stable Money Association is already out with warnings that friends of the gold standard should rally to the cause of sound money.

Silver has hardly been heard of in political conversation since the Democrats dropped it with returning prosperity early in the century after the dizzy ride which the late William J. Bryan took on the 16-to-1 issue in the two presidential campaigns during the hard times brought on by the panic of 1893. Mr. Borah hastens to insist that his in-

Wedding on Bridge Evades 'Red Tape' of Two Nations

Prospective Bride Barred From U. S. by Quota Limit, Groom Denied Canadian Marriage License, Ceremony Held on International Span.

Detroit, Mich., May 11 (A.P.).—A Scottish bride who could not enter the United States because of quota restrictions and an American bridegroom who could not secure a marriage license in Canada because of a legal technicality, were married tonight on the center span of the Ambassador bridge, which links United States and Canada.

Then they returned to Canada where they expect to live until the bride can secure a visa, in about 15 days, to enter the United States as wife of an American citizen.

Emily Hunt, 31, of Windsor, Ontario, and Reginald A. Crudge, 40, of Detroit, were the bride and bridegroom.

The ceremony was performed by John D. Watts, common pleas judge.

Refusal of Canadian authorities to recognize a Mexican divorce from a former wife prevented Crudge from securing a marriage license in Canada. Crudge is of English birth and served in the Royal Air Service Corps during the war.

STATE OF WAR GRIPS MADRID WHILE MOBS FIRE DOZEN CHURCHES

Mass Meeting Backs Dry Act Enforcement

Citizens Service Association Also Indorses Campaign for Temperance Education and Drive to Make Washington "Morally Safe."

Resolutions taking an emphatic stand against prohibition repeal, demanding rigid enforcement and indorsing the antisaloon campaign of youth of the city last night were adopted unanimously by the Citizens Service Association for Law and Order at a mass meeting of 500 members at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Ten speakers, five of them clergymen, exhorted the members to greater vigilance to make Washington "morally safe," or contrasted conditions under prohibition with the situation "in the days of the saloon." They spoke on the relation of prohibition to the pulpit, the schools, radios and movies, the press, youth and the "down-and-outer."

Thomas B. Jarvis, executive secretary of the association, and successor in office to Harry N. Douthitt, who yesterday was cited for contempt of court for his failure to divulge "what he knows" about Washington police, failed to mention his predecessor in his report to the membership. He told a Post reporter that he did not think it would be "fair" for him to comment.

HOOVER IS PLEASED WITH 1932 OUTLOOK

Republicans Join President in White House Survey of Political Field.

(United Press.)

President Hoover took stock of the political situation yesterday—and found the outlook promising. Throughout the day he received reports from various friends from out in the country who are affiliated in one way or another with the Republican national committee.

The reports were encouraging concerning Republican prospects for next year, if those who brought them are to be believed. The Hoover movement is gaining headway, they said. The bandwagon is filling rapidly and all is ready for the pull to renominate and reelect the candidate next year.

It was one of those gatherings which the participants always describe as "spontaneous," but which have a miraculous way of occurring spontaneously every few months. Unannounced, these men who are friends of the President, and who really are an unofficial board of directors from the national committee, troop into the White House and sit around for a few days.

From Pittsburgh and a conference with Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, comes James Francis Burke, who has the title of counsel of the committee. As Mr. Pinchot is regarded as a possible contestant for the nomination, or even as a third candidate in the race, it was assumed Mr. Burke brought first-hand knowledge from what might be termed "the enemy camp." What the independents and progressives are going to do is a matter of keen interest around the White House as elsewhere.

One by one, in came Ray Benjamin, who has been heralded as a Col. House to the President; James R. Nutt, Cleveland, treasurer of the committee; Earl S. Kinsley, of Vermont, once discussed for chairman, and Roy O. West, of Illinois, a member of the executive committee and former Secretary of Interior.

While each of them denied it, there were indications that the discussions included the frequently delayed reorganization of the national committee in preparation for the coming campaign. The chairman of the committee, Senator Simeon Fess, departed for his Ohio home last week, leaving a statement behind him that his tenure of office was as much in doubt now as it ever was.

The understanding has been general among the leaders from the start that Senator Fess would step out whenever his successor was chosen. His friends have expected him to remain on through the summer, as there will be much need for organization work before that time.

Reconciliation of Carol With Helen Is Denied

Bucharest, oumania, May 11 (A.P.). It was officially denied tonight that any reconciliation between Queen Helen and King Carol has taken place or is contemplated.

NAVY WILL BUY OIL FROM FOREIGN FIRM

Three of Largest Contracts for U. S. Fleet to Go to Shell Company.

(United Press).

A large portion of the Navy's fuel oil in the next fiscal year will be purchased from the Shell Oil Co., American offshoot of the parent Royal Dutch Shell, Ltd., British and Dutch controlled concern.

While a complete tabulation of the Navy's intended purchases from the Shell Company is not available, it was learned yesterday that three of the Navy's largest contracts would go to that company. Bid of $1,017,500 to supply 3,500,000 barrels of oil for the battle fleet at San Pedro, Calif., was accepted, as were offers of $136,250 and $75,150 for oil to be delivered at Portland and San Francisco, respectively.

The Shell Oil Co., while not directly controlled by the British-Dutch concern, is a subsidiary of the Shell Union Oil which is incorporated as a holding company to consolidate properties of the Royal Dutch Shell and Union Oil Co., of Delaware.

Navy officials explained that they had no choice beween companies as he law mkes it impertive to buy from the low bidder, providing the quality is up to standard.

Considerable comment was arroused in official circles here when it became known that Shell would be awarded large Navy contracts. For years Royal Dutch Shell, under the leadership of Sir Henri Deterding, has fought with American concerns for foreign oil producing concessions and markets.

The invasion of the United States domestic field by the Shell Companies has been bitterly contested by American producers. Recent gatherings of independent oil men have attacked what they termed "the foreign monopoly," and efforts to secure oil tariff and embargo legislation from the last Congress were regarded as directed, at least partially, against the Shell Companies.

Although the Shell Oil Co. was among the major petroleum concerns who voluntarily agreed to accept Secretary of Interior Wilbur's proposal for limitation of imports from foreign fields, the attacks have continued. Independent oil men maintain that because of the low labor costs in the South American fields, it is possible for the Shell Co. and other large importers to produce and ship their product to the United States and still undersell domestic production.

The interests of the Royal Dutch Shell are said to be worldwide, including South America, Mesopotamia, Persia, and other important oil-producing areas.

Virginia Girl to Wed In New York Tomorrow

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—A marriage license was issued to Robert E. Robinson, 32, a naval officer of Galveston, Texas, and Charlotte G. Whitehouse, 24, of New York, at the municipal building today.

Miss Whitehouse is a native of Charlottesville, Va. They said they would be married Wednesday.

Woman and 3 Men Slain By Mexican Firing Squad

Victims Executed by Bandits After Holdup of Resort; Pianist Escapes Amid Shots and Causes Arrest of Two Charged With Part in Raid.

Gomez Palacio, Durango, Mexico, May 11 (A.P.).—Three men and a woman were lined up against a wall and shot to death by bandits who raided a summer resort at Raymundo, near here, early today.

The bandits, believed to be Mexicans recently repatriated from the United States, obliged the two proprietors of the resort to hand over the receipts from the previous night's business, then formed a firing squad and executed them, together with the wife of one.

A waiter employed in the resort interfered, and also was executed, while the pianist escaped amid shots. Military authorities later apprehended Benito and Prudencio Valdez, suspected of having participated in the raid.

The victims were Miguel and Vicente Ortega, brothers and proprietors; Senora Esther Gonzalez de Ortega, wife of the former, and Juan Cruz, waiter. The arrests were made upon information furnished by the pianist. The victims were killed, he said, despite pleas for mercy.

Priests and Nuns Flee Unhurt as Catholic Edifices Blaze.

TROOPS ARE CHEERED AS CIVIL GUARDS QUIT

Loss Is Placed at Millions; Firemen Charged With Idly Watching Flames.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Madrid, May 11 (A.P.).—A state of war clamped down upon the Spanish capital tonight while smoke still curled from the embers of a dozen burning ruins of Catholic churches, schools and religious houses destroyed by defiant mobs.

Bugles and drums sounded a call to arms. From the garrison of Cala de Henares, the flower of Spanish cavalry rode hard for the capital on emergency orders from the Republican cabinet. Infantry marched into the streets and armored cars and machine guns rattled out. Business was suspended in the city after the cabinet had proclaimed a state of martial law. Banks were tightly locked and shuttered.

On order of the government, every Spanish frontier was closed. Patrols were ordered to prevent the exit or entry of any persons except those bearing a special permit.

Priests and Nuns Unhurt.

No deaths of priests or nuns could be verified tonight, although many were injured as the mob attacked their houses, and it was estimated that at least 500 had escaped, some of them while blazing rafters crashed about them.

President Alcala Zamora late tonight broadcast by radio an appeal to the people of Spain to preserve law and order. He said the government greatly deplored the events of the last 24 hours. As far as could be learned, Madrid was the only city in which rioting occurred.

Members of the Republican cabinet were disposed to lay the blame for the riots equally upon Monarchists and Communists. At least 50 Monarchists were jailed by the government authorities. Included among these was former Premier Damaso Berenguer, who was released from jail by order of the government only a day before.

Firemen Watch Flames.

Firemen who watched the flames consume the burning buildings and churches either made no move to put out the fires or were prevented from doing so by the mob.

There were cheers, however, as regiments of infantry, marching to spirited quicksteps, began to take charge of the street patrols late today and to replace the civil guard. The guard was hissed as it was relieved. Throngs of demonstrators shouted during the day in front of the building where the cabinet was meeting and frequently interrupted the sessions.

The first building to be attacked by the mob was the national headquarters of the Jesuits in Spain. The great structure, which formerly housed the American Embassy, was soon a blazing furnace. Crowds fed the flames with gasoline and hurled stones and brickbats, while 200 priests scurried to safety, their robes covered by civilian garb.

Fiery Trail Pierces City.

From there on the fiery trail led through central Madrid to the outlying districts. The mob burned, successively, the Convent of the Carmelites in the Plaza Espana, a Jesuit seminary near the center of the city, a Jesuit school in the suburb of Chamartin, a Franciscan school in the Cuatro Caminas district and several other Catholic buildings, including churches.

When, toward nightfall, it looked as if the arrival of the soldiery had brought the situation almost under control, a report came that the mob had marched on another church and school and burned them.

Nuns escaping from one of the burning buildings were not molested by the crowd which surrounded it, but were given every assistance. Members of the mob called taxicabs for the nuns, although generally speaking no taxicabs were permitted to operate in the streets.

Although insulting legends addressed to priests were scrawled upon the walls of some of the burned buildings,

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

the priests themselves were, in most cases, unmolested as they made their escape in civilian dress.

President Guarantees Protection.

In his radio address tonight, President Alcala Zamora said, "I respect all religious creeds, and I guarantee that there will be no more church-burning such as occurred today. I can not permit the civil guard to be disarmed as has been requested, because this body has a definite position in the maintenance of public order in the republic. Nobody but communists, monarchists or anarchists, who wish to make our work more difficult, would ask such a thing."

The city was quiet tonight, with a large number of troops in the streets and military guards protecting public buildings and Catholic property. Crowds were still watching the burning convents, but the rioting had ceased. Caterpillar tanks paraded up and down, to the amusement of the children, who climed on them for rides.

Government Stand Backed.

Socialist and republican opinion was generally approving the government's decision to use all necessary force to maintain order. In some of these quarters it was said that if such force had been used sooner the disorders of Sunday and Monday would not have occurred.

Reliable Catholic sources stated tonight that more than 10,000 nuns and priests had abandoned convents and religious houses which were yet unattacked and had either taken refuge with friends or left the city. The damage to Catholic property was fixed by late estimates at around $5,000,000.

One of the finest mechanical and chemical laboratories in Spain was destroyed in the burning of the Jesuit industrial technical school.

Nuns' School Destroyed.

Among the convents destroyed was one operated by the Sisters of St. Bernard for the education of girl workers, and another run by the Order of St. Francis de Sales as an orphan asylum for pauper children.

Minister of the Interior Maura said tonight that a large collection of valuables, including gold and silver, taken by the mob from religious houses, had been recovered, and that the persons found in possession of these valuables had been placed in jail.

He also announced the arrest of 80 Communists who were rounded up at a meeting in the Plaza.

Among a group of persons arrested as monarchist agitator suspects were Galo Ponte former minister in the cabinet under the dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera and author of a noted legal code which was suppressed by the republican government. Others arrested were the Duke of Hornachuelos and Count Elda.

Government Is Blamed.

A share of blame for the riots was placed on the government tonight by Manuel Muino, secretary of the administrative council of labor unions, who charged the cabinet had been too lenient.

"If the government had proceeded more energetically against the extreme rights," Muino said, "it would have been in a position to use stronger measures against the extreme left."

Several of the large newspapers of Madrid, commenting tonight on the riots, were unanimous in supporting the government, but they also demanded that order be restored and preserved.

Convent Is Saved.

Seville, Spain, May 10 (A.P.).—A mob in the suburb Triana attempted tonight to wreck a convent used as a home for aged nuns, but the timely arrival of a squad of civil guards prevented the rioters from getting farther than the convent gates, which had been broken through.

In the meantime a number of aged nuns had fled through the rear doors and taken refuge in the houses of friends.

An attack was also made on the Merchants Club here when somebody shouted from the window "Down with the republic!" Police prevented the mob from entering, but were unable to prevent the smashing of several windows.

Several people who shouted "Hurrah for King Alfonso!" were saved from lynching only by the intervention of the police.

Vatican Regrets Incident.

Vatican City, May 11 (A.P.).—Officials at the Vatican tonight expressed confidence the provisional government in Spain possessed "the strength and the will to restore order." They said, however, the Vatican regretted the "seeming degeneration of the republican movement into one of anti-clerical violence.

The general tendency tonight was to regard the situation as one of scattered and disconnected acts. It was admitted, nevertheless, that "grave alarm" was raised by the news of the burning of churches.

New Government Defended.

San Sebastian, Spain, May 11 (A.P.).—The Spanish government, Foreign Minister Lerroux told a huge crowd here tonight, now is prepared to demonstrate by "iron-fisted tactics" that it is able to dominate monarchistic or any other attempts to disturb the public order.

The foreign minister, who is en route to Geneva for a meeting of the League of Nations council, addressed the crowd at the railroad station. The government's previous lenient attitude, he said, had been "misinterpreted by its enemies as cowardice."

Fontainebleau, France, May 11 (A.P.).—Former King Alfonso of Spain, spending the day quietly with his family here, refused repeated requests today for a comment on the riots in Madrid. He was reading eagerly all the news from the Spanish capital.

Spanish Exchange Closed.

Barcelona, Spain, May 11 (A.P.).—The stock market and banks were closed today by order of the government while mobs rioted in Madrid, but there were no disorders here.

TRADE CONFERENCE IS URGED BY BORAH

Senator Favors Meeting to Consider Program for Next Congress.

(Associated Press.)

A conference of America's business and industrial leaders to consider prospective legislative measures to be taken up at the next session of Congress was advocated yesterday by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho.

Legislation involving railroads, income taxes, oil restriction, agriculture and utilities were listed by Senator Borah as due for action at the session of Congress opening in December.

"Certainly we would like to hear the views of industry," said the senator. "We have not heard any recommendations from business and by the time we get to considering these bills we are going to be stampeded by the lobbyists and propagandists."

Mr. Borah's proposal for an "unmanaged" conference of business and industrial leaders followed the close of the meetings of the International Chamber of Commerce and of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

While reserving comment on those meetings, the Idahoan said he would be pleased and he thought Congress would be pleased to learn just what industry's representatives would recommend on the pending legislative program at an "unfettered" conference.

Mr. Borah's suggested legislative program is the first put forward for the new Congress and it included only those questions either before the last Congress or which had arisen since.

With a smile, he suggested that the conference be on the Soviet plan—five representatives of each business and industry. However, he would place a strict bar against participation by any representatives of politics.

While the chamber of commerce has offered recommendations in the past on pending legislation, a conference of such a nature as that proposed by Mr. Borah would be unique in that it would be called on almost the same basis as Congress itself for consideration of legislation affecting the Nation.

Leaders of the Progressive conference at the close of last session expect to have a general legislative program ready for consideration by December. Committees under the direction of Senators Borah, Norris, of Nebraska; Cutting, of New Mexico; La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Costigan, of Colorado, will meet during the summer.

Airplanes Turned Into Amphibians As Navy Tests New Type Landing Gear

Alight on Land, Carrier Decks or Water in Experiment.

(Associated Press.)

A new type of landing gear to enable planes to alight on land, carrier decks, or water is being tested by the Navy to increase the safety and utility of its service aircraft.

Known as the Grumman landing gear, it consists of a pontoon with wheels concealed in circular cavities on each side. The wheels, dropped down for land or deck take-offs and landings, are drawn in during flight to lessen wind resistance, and for water landings.

The entire apparatus is interchangeable with the pontoons or wheels carried by standard observation and scouting planes in the naval service.

The device is being tested on the Tennessee as a possible substitute for the conventional seaplanes carried by battleships and cruisers. These planes must be catapulted into the air.

On observation missions during an attack, the seaplanes would be forced to light on water when the gas supply was consumed and be out of action until picked up by a ship. A possible advantage of the amphibious gear is that the planes could land on carriers to refuel.

Two observation planes aboard the Lexington are also being tested with the new gear. Land planes are almost exclusively used at present aboard the carriers, and safety in a forced landing on water is dependent upon quick use of "flotation gear."

The flotation gear consists of a pair of "water wings"—two bags concealed in each side of the fuselage. In a forced water landing, the pilot rips a panel opening each compartment, and turns a control which inflates the bags with gas carried under pressure.

The "water wings" will not be displaced from fighter planes under present plans, since the amphibious gear would decrease possible speed. The amphibious gear is intended primarily for scouting and observation planes.

Device Interchangeable; "Water Wings" Used, Gas in Bags.

It is believed that an accepted gear would make aircraft easily transferable between the fleet, carriers and land stations. At present seaplanes are necessary for the fleet, conventional airplanes for land and land planes with flotation gear for carriers.

City to Try New Plan In Traffic Regulation

The green-amber-red-green cycle, proposed some time ago by Traffic Director W. H. Harland, will probably go into effect at 27 intersections within the next week.

Rates which the Potomac Electric Power Co. is permitted to charge for the operation of these signals were approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission. They are slightly lower than those on the present circuit.

The purpose of eliminating the amber light just before the green is to prevent motorists from starting across an intersection before the green shows.

William E. Dodd, head of the department of history at the University of Chicago, will deliver a eulogy to the World War President, for whom the building is named. Dr. Dodd accepted the invitation to deliver the eulogy after the death of Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, who was to make the address.

Among others expected to be present are Dr. Julian A. Burruss, president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and representatives from each Virginia college. Teachers' colleges in the nearby States of Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and North Carolina also will be present, along with members of the General Assembly, who have been invited.

The dedicatory exercises will be held at 11 a. m., with the annual May Day festival of the college to follow in the afternoon. There will be a concert at night.

Woodrow Wilson Hall is the capstone of the Harrisonburg College layout, being located on the crest of Blue Stone Hill, overlooking the Valley turnpike. It is the largest building on the campus and, like the other college structures, is built of native blue limestone. From the tower of the new building can be seen Staunton, the birthplace of Woodrow Wilson, 26 miles away.

The building houses the largest college auditorium in Virginia and the administration offices of the college. The structure has been erected at a cost of more than $200,000.

Mr. Dodd, who is an authority on the biography of Woodrow Wilson, was at one time professor of history at Randolph-Macon College, and is a frequent contributor to historical publications on subjects pertaining to the South.

SOME ARMY POSTS ARE NEARING DOOM

is, an economic value to the community in which they are located.

A post established on the frontier in the days of the Indian Wars, for example, might have such a sentimental value that the member of Congress in whose district it is located would talk himself purple to keep it from being scrapped.

Regarded as Asset.

In a small community a force of soldiers is regarded as a distinct economic asset. They buy in the stores, eat in the restaurants, patronize the amusements and otherwise contribute to the coffers of the community. Naturally, the member of Congress who represents that community is not going to stand idly by and see the post uprooted.

However, it is not believed that the War Department now has in mind abandoning any of its posts which house any considerable number of men.

The posts that are to go probably are those that Representative Wood speaks of. As has been said, most of these are located along the coasts.

In some cases one will find as few as six men manning such a post. Their job is simply to keep the coast defense guns oiled and otherwise to look out for the war equipment.

Housing Now Problem.

The Army's big problem now is housing. In the debates in Congress, soldiers have been depicted as living in veritable hovels, miserable, leaking shacks that were slapped together during the World War. A building program is now under way to meet this problem, but it is far from completed.

If posts are abandoned, the question immediately arises as to what is going to be done with the men; where are they going to be housed.

An extreme pacifist might reply, "reduce the number of men." But there is no thought of that so far as the administration is concerned. As far back as 1927, President Coolidge announced that the American Army was "demobilized;" that it had been reduced as much as it could be reduced.

An example of what might happen in the process of abandoning and consolidating Army posts may be drawn from a situation that now exists along the Potomac River.

No Strategic Value.

A few miles below Washington, on the Maryland side, stands Fort Washington. It was constructed for the purpose of keeping enemy ships from approaching Washington. Now, however, it is an infantry garrison, with 18 officers and 500 men. No one pretends that it has any strategic value.

Across from Fort Washington, on the Virginia side, is Fort Hunt. It was designed for the same purpose as Fort Washington—to ward off enemy ships traveling up the river. Quartered in Fort Hunt are 8 officers and 56 men.

A plan is under consideration looking to the abandonment of Fort Hunt and consolidating its force with that at Fort Washington.

Outside of posts like Fort Monroe at Chesapeake Bay, and other coast defense posts, there are really no forts in the United States now, according to militarw men. What may have been a fort in the West when Indians were on the warpath is now simply a place to quarter soldiers.

Relations With Canada.

Such are America's relations with Canada that an invasion from that quarter is hardly considered. Nor is an invasion from Mexico given much thought.

In the evetn of war—that is, a war on American soil—the Army's task, so military men say, would be to mass soldiers along the coasts. Considering the country's great transportation system, this would be an easy matter, regardless of where the troops had to come from.

Thus, it would not seem to make much difference from a military point of view where the troops are located. There is one thing, however, that does make a difference to the troops. Wherever they are, they would like to have decent quarters.

MONTGOMERY SUIT IN FIRM ROW ENDS

Request for Injunction Writ on Capital Patent Concern Is Settled.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4208.

Amicable settlement of the suit filed by Samuel N. Acker, asking an injunction in connection with the patent law firm of Lacey & Lacey, of Washington, of which he had been a member for many years, was reported yesterday by Thomas L. Dawson, of Rockville, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. August George Liebman, the defendants.

Mr. Acker had asked the court to restrain Mr. Liebman, who had been named as administrator of the estate of the late Anderson B. Lacey, whose wife Mrs. Liebman was, from interfering with the conduct of the patent business of the firm.

Under the terms of the settlement, Mr. Acker remains a member of the firm, and two nephews of the late Mr. Lacey are named as partners, Thomas H. Johnston and John S. Lacey, both of whom have been with the firm for years.

Suit containing two counts, each of which asks $2,000 compensatory and $5,000 punitive damages, was filed in Circuit Court at Rockville yesterday for Otilia S. Crumbaugh, of Damascus, by the law firm of Cissel & Whiteford, of Rockville. The suit names as defendants, Claude G. Mullinix, Valley Moxley and Ernest Duvall and alleges that the defendants, their agents and servants, entered the property of Mr. Crumbaugh, known as Mount Radnor or Pembroke, which is adjacent to the property of Mr. Mullinix, and "intending to injure the plaintiff in the beneficial use and occupation of said land and premises, wantonly, intendingly and maliciously cut down 150 large white oaks," and furthermore, that the defendants had torn down the fence to the property.

Elizabeth Virginia Hicks, an infant, through her father, Harold W. Hicks, yesterday filed suit for $150 damages in Circuit Court at Rockville, naming Earl R. Richardson as defendant. Through the law firm of Peter, Simpson & Oley, of Rockville, the child alleges that she was seriously injured as the result of a collision between the car of Mr. Richardson and a car driven by Ida Virginia Randall in which she was passenger. The suit alleges careless driving on the part of Mr. Richardson.

Villa Roma's Fate To Come Up Today

Commissioners to Decide Whether Permit Will Be Issued.

The Montgomery County Commissioners are scheduled to announce their decision on the issuance of a permit for the new season to the Villa Roma, a night club on the Rockville pike, at their meeting today in the courthouse at Rockville.

Issuance of the permit was opposed by the Rockville Pike Citizens Association and several residents of the pike at a hearing last Tuesday, although residents nearby the club defended the club's operation. The commissioners stated last week that they would announce their decision today.

Frank Abbo, proprietor of the club, told the commissioners that he has invested his life savings amounting to about $90,000 in the property and that refusal to grant the permit would ruin him as well as throw the employes out of work. He defended the management of the establishment and declared that he has endeavored at all times to operate an orderly, law-observing place.

BRIDGE SUPERVISOR ARRIVES TOMORROW

R. E. Needham to Complete Final Arrangements for Big Tournament.

R. E. Needham, manager of the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players sponsored by The Washington Post, will arrive here tomorrow to perfect final arrangements for the big event.

In view of the size of the tournament, which is the largest of its kind ever held, the cooperation of the participants is earnestly solicited to the end that playing may be expedited with the least possible confusion. The parlors of the New Shoreham, where the tournament is to be held, are adequate for the comfort and convenience of all players so that there need be no apprehension on that point.

Because fifteen or twenty minutes will be required in the seating of the participants, the committee is urging all players to reach the hotel as soon after 1:30 for the afternoon sessions and as soon after 7:30 for the evening sessions as possible. Players should be seated at 2 o'clock for the afternoon games and at 8 for the evening contests, for the reason that immediately preceding the start of play, Mr. Needham will deliver a talk on the methods of the tournament, including instruction on the movement of players and of the duplicate boards, and on scoring.

Guests will be received by members of the committee and upon announcing their names will be provided with cards indicating the section in which they will play and the table at which they will sit for the first hand. Pair numbers in each case will correspond with table numbers and remain the same throughout the session as the players move from one table to another.

Individual score cards will be provided at each table, a separate one for each hand played. It will be the duty of the North player to keep the record and of the East player to check same before it is handed to the official scorekeeper, who will collect them at the conclusion of each hand.

Remember the dates, May 14, 15, and 16. Remember the hours, afternoon games at 2 o'clock and evening games at 8 o'clock.

Remember, the place is the New Shoreham Hotel.

Honduran Guard Ship Withdrawn

Light Cruiser Memphis or Marblehead to Rejoin Scout Force.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy yesterday ordered another vessel withdrawn from Nicaraguan and Honduran waters.

Orders went forward to Rear Admiral Smith, commander of the special service squadron, that either the light cruiser Memphis or the light cruiser Marblehead return to duty with the scouting force now on the Atlantic Coast.

Admiral Smith will decide which of the vessels will be withdrawn.

When this order is carried out one light cruiser and one gunboat will remain in the Nicaraguan-Honduran region.

The gunboat Asheville, after fueling and provisioning in the canal zone, sailed yesterday for Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, to relieve the gunboat Sacramento. The latter has been directed toproceed to the Canal Zone.

Admiral Smith reported conditions quiet on the Atlantic coast of Nicaragua and Honduras.

Fletcher Favors Freight Rate Cuts

Florida Senator Sees No Relief for Railroads by Higher Charges.

(Associated Press.)

The proposal of 50 railway executives for an increase in freight rates that would raise $450,000,000 more in revenue drew criticism yesterday from Senator Fletcher, of Florida, ranking Democrat on the Senate commerce committee.

He called for lower rather than higher carrying charges and said one reason why trucks were moving so much freight was because of "high rail rates."

"I can not see how the railroads can expect to increase their revenues by increasing rates," he said. "Some ten years ago an increase of 40 per cent was allowed the railroads and this brought the rates up to the highest point ever reached. They have been revised downward by the Interstate Commerce Commission in 5,000 out of 6,000 cases brought.

"Undoubtedly they would increase their revenues by raising the rates provided they could carry the same amount of tonnage, but it is perfectly obvious that one reason why trucks are moving so much freight is because of the high rail rates. Consequently, if these rates were increased there would be an inevitable decrease in tonnage."

Business Men's Group To Give Buffet Supper

The recently organized Central Business Men's Association will give a buffet supper tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Logan. The purpose of the meeting is to bring the professional and business representatives of the section closer together and to acquaint them with the purposes of the organization.

The association was formed, its members say, to develop a first-class commercial district in the section in view of the proposed widening of Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. The association will cooperate closely with the Logan-Thomas Circle Citizen's Association, it is said.

Man Runs Amuck, Fights Ship Crew

Attacker From Connecticut Is Taken From Boat in Canal Zone.

Balboa, Canal Zone, May 11 (A.P.).—A man who ran amuck on a freighter far out in the lonely stretches of the south Pacific was taken off the steamer Santa Cecilia when she arrived from Honolulu today. He was placed in the Corozal Hospital.

While the ship was proceeding through quiet seas a week ago with a cargo of sugar for New York, Samuel H McCrea, 38, of Darien, Conn., suddenly became mentally deranged and attacked other members of the crew.

After threatening to throw Capt. F H. Baker overboard McCrea turned on the first mate and knocked down the radio operator. He finally was subdued and placed in a cabin. He broke out once, but later was chained to the deck under a canvas canopy. From there he insisted on throwing his clothes into the sea

Power Group Hit As Hindering Dam

Brookhart Says Letters on Boulder Project Are Faked.

(Associated Press.)

The "power trust" was accused yesterday by Senator Brookhart of attempting to hinder construction of the gigantic Boulder Canyon Dam project and other reclamation undertakings.

The Iowa Republican voiced this view in a letter repiying to a number of identical communications coming to his office urging that no more funds be appropriated for reclamation work on the ground that such projects helped contribute to the surplus of farm products.

In his reply, Senator Brookhart contended that "these letters have been prepared and sent out to cover up some more important questions that affect the farmers of Iowa." He said Iowa was not hurt by the reclamation products because they did not compete with Iowa products.

Wales Pledges Aid to Gain Greater Trade for Britain

Offers to "Pool" Experience Gleaned in South America With That of Manufacturers in Efforts to Restore Prosperity; Is Dinner Speaker.

Birmingham, Engand, May 11 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales, in an address before 1,400 British manufacturers here tonight, offered to "pool" the experience he gleaned in South America with that of the manufacturers, in an attempt to restore prosperity to Britain.

It was his first public appearance since his South American tour, and he was given a great ovation when he arrived at the Birmingham Chamber of Comerce, to be the principal speaker at a dinner.

"It was a very serious industrial crisis in our country," he said, "that led me to go to South America this winter to study the openings offered us, as manufacturers, in that continent.

"I returned home to find the situation even worse than when I left. I know how hard you have been struggling to overcome these adverse conditions, and I want to pool my experiences with yours in an effort to determine how we can keep the place we now hold in South America and how best to prepare to take any advantage of the first signs that the clouds are lifting.

"When and how the clouds will lift we do not now know, but it is very important that we be first in the field when they do."

The prince then related the experiences of his travels and his discussions with South American industrialists, pointing out lessons that might be learned and preparations that might be made by British manufacturers who hope to capture their share of the great southern market.

Jose A. Dodero, president of the newly established Argentine Chamber of Commerce at London, responded to the toast, "The Development of Anglo-Argentine trade."

"From my own experience," he said, "I am able to say that in Argentina preference is invariably given articles of British manufacture on equal terms with those from other sources, and in many cases even in the face of lower quotations."

The British ships already carry 45 per cent of the Argentine import and export tonnage of 30,000,000 tons a year Mr. Dodero said, and he added he would like to see this percentage increased to what it used to be in the past.

He also expressed the hope that British motor cars would soon be more generally used in the country and said that agricultural machinery and airplanes offered further opportunities for British trade.

HYATTSVILLE'S NEW OFFICERS SWORN IN

Mayor Gray and Associates Begin Duties; Aiello Is City Attorney.

Caesar L. Aiello was appointed town attorney for Hyattsville last night by the new administration, which was sworn into office amid floral tributes from the Chamber of Commerce and former councilmen. Mr. Aiello takes the place of Waldo Burnside, former counsel for the town.

The new town fathers also appointed Harvey T. Casbarian town clerk in place of Carroll Beatty, and reappointed Albert Anderson chief of police with a salary raise of 25. Appointments of other town officials were deferred until a later meeting, but indications are that all the incumbentts will not be selected again.

Only Three New Officers.

Only three of the new rulers of the town are actually new, the mayor, Lemuel L. Gray, and two councilmen. Terms of four of the eight councilmen do not expire for another year, and two more, whose terms expired, were chosen again at the election last Monday. Mr. Gray also has had previous service as a councilman.

Mr. Gray was presented with a gavel by Former Mayor H. T. Willis, after which he was sworn in by John F. Fainter, justice of the peace, who also inducted the councilmen into office.

Irvin Owings, Mr. Gray's campaign manager, spoke at the inauguration, commenting on the methods by which the preelection activities were carried on. He rapped the rumors that Mr. Gray was the tool of the county politicians, branding them as altogether false.

Mayor Has Majority.

The first meeting of the council found the new mayor with a working majority, half the aldermen being regarded as his adherents. With the deciding voice in case of a tie, Mr. Gray will be able to get through his legislation. Councilmen C. D. Anderson and Howard A. Harrison, of the First Ward and Lawrence L. Powers and Dr. P. F. Brokens, of the Fourth Ward are though to be thoroughly in sympathy with the new chief.

Among the measures promised by Mr. Gray during the campaign are thoseto provide more traffic signals on the Baltimore boulevard and a consideration of town taxes. He has said that taxes are becoming more and more burdensome, and that a reduction of 5 cents can be made because of smaller interest on fire apparatus. After this year, it is possible that a 10-cent reduction can be made, as payments on the engines will all have been made.

Twenty years after she allegedly was deserted by Edward M. Griffin, Mrs. Helen M. Griffin has filed suit for divorce in Prince Georges County Circuit Court. In her petition the woman states that she was married in 1908 and abandoned in 1911.

The couple has no children, according to the petition, which was filed through attorneys J. Wilson Ryon and Albert R. Hassall. In addition to a divorce, the woman asks that the court restore her maiden name.

A suit for divorce was also filed by Lucy Marie Anderson, of Laurel, on grounds of desertion. She asks that her marriage to Richard Johnson Anderson, formerly of Jessups, Md., be canceled, although they have three children. The children are Mildred Elizabeth, 5 years old, and Natalie, 3. The couple was married in 1926, and the woman claims that Anderson left her in 1928. H. S. Heuriehs is attorney for her.

A law requiring all houses in Colmar Manor near sewer lines to have connections for drainage looms as a possibility, as the town council has instructed Bird H. Dolby, town attorney, to draw up such a bill for consideration.

This action followed the filing of several complaints with the mayor, Burt M. Bromley. Whether or not the building inspector has power to order these on new buildings has not been decided.

A bill to regulate the sale of fireworks in the town, allowing them to be sold around the Fourth of July, is also under consideration. The Town of Riverdale has recently passed an ordinance forbidding the sale except between June 26 and July 5.

The date for a referendum on a bond issue for street improvements has been set for May 16. Voting will be between 5 and 9 o'clock. The council has been informed by those in touch with the Baltimore bond market that a good price may be expected. The recent bond issue of the sanitary commission brought a premium of more than 5 points.

Plans of the proposed park development of Prince Georges County will be on display at the county industrial show, to be held in the Hyattsville Armory on June 4, 5 and 6 by the Exchange Club. Mayors of the incorporated towns in the county and members of the Exchange Clubs of Washington and Baltimore will be invited to attend as guests of honor.

The proposed park development, to be financed by a bond issue of $800,000, is understood to include the Indian Creek project. This system is expected to consist of an 8-mile park from Hyattsville to Muirkirk, with a 100-foot boulevard running through it. The whole valley of the stream would be within the park. The boulevard would be a part of the Washington-Baltimore route.

The committee on reservations, which is headed by Henry Hiser, has announced that most of the 31 booths have been taken by various industries in the county. The booths will be of gold cloth and blue velvet, with gilded posts. Other members of the Reservations committee are Waldo Burnside, W. D. Porter, H. C. Fleming, Dr. W. S. Spire, Ray Czarra, Frank Smith and S. H. Harvey.

Richard N. Elliot, assistant comptroller general, will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises to be held by the Snyder-Farmer Post No. 3 of the American Legion, of Hyattsville, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Elliot was formerly a Representative from Indiana, and chairman of the House Building and Grounds committee.

The post has also given a vote of thanks to the town commissioners of Bladensburg for their gift of a flag for the Memorial Cross in Bladensburg, and has endorsed the Mardi Gras ball to be given by the Police Post of Washington.

Adj. Orion R. Butler has announced that the post now consists of 68 members, the largest in the Southern Maryland district. Two new members, Harry Olson, of Riverdale, and Charles Smith, of Berwyn, have been admitted.

After a collision between his car and a bus of the Washington, Marlboro, and Annapolis line in Seat Pleasant, James Murphy, of Washington, was arrested and charged with driving while drunk and reckless driving. Only a few passengers were in the bus and none was hurt. Neither car was badly damaged.

After being arrested by Constable Earle Blackwell, Murphy was committed to the Marlboro jail in default of bond of $1,000. Bond of $1,000 was also set for Frank A. Cannon, of Washington, charged with driving while drunk. He was arrested on the Crain Highway near Marlboro. Four other men in the car were released.

The citizens' committee on public schools met last night at George Mason Hotel and again stated the delay in its final report is occasioned by the failure to receive a copy of the report of Dr. Critchley, of Columbia University, who made a survey of the high schools in March. Charles M. Houston offered a resolution that the general chairman of the committee, the chairman of the high school committee and the chairman of the grade school committee go before the special meeting of the school board on Thursday night and ask the cause of the delay in allowing the public to see this report. F. Clinton Knight then offered a resolution that if this committee does not receive a satisfactory answer from the school board, they then appear before city council and ask that body to take action to compel the school board to submit the report.

The opinion of the majority of the committee as stated in the meeting last night is that the school board is stalling in declining to make public Dr. Critchley's report, which was promised two months ago, and the reason given by the board for withholding the report is not a sincere one. It is understood the board claims to be holding the report for the formal signature of Dr. Critchley, whereas the committee last night claimed that the apparent intention is to hold it until after schools close in June.

James R. Mansfield, of the school administration committee, submitted a minority report which was accepted.

The Washington Fire Department Rescue Squad made a record run of 11 minutes to Alexandria early yesterday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koer, 629 Oronoco street, bringing oxygen to their 11-year-old son, who was suffering convulsions.

The boy was stricken at midnight Sunday night and Dr. H. A. Latane was summoned. Dr. Latane, being unable to check the ailment, called for aid later.

At a late hour last night the squad was on duty, administering oxygen every 20 minutes, and working in reliefs. The boy's condition was reported late last night as unchanged, although he had made a slight improvement during the day.

The annual meeting of the Alexandria District Conference of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will be held tomorrow and Thursday in the Washington Street Methodist Episcopal Church South, the first session to be at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, presided over by the Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, presiding elder, with the Rev Dr. D. L. Snyder, pastor of the church, as host.

The ladies of the church will serve luncheon at noon both days. Delegates from the local church are Walter S. Nicklin, John H. Trimyer, Tyson Janney, J. E. W. Timberman, J. Frank Myers and John G. Cockey. Alternates are T. Moxley Ervin, R. Samuel Luckett, Charles E. Dare and George Smith.

The men's mission in progress the past week in St. Mary's Catholic Church has closed and was considered one of the most successful gatherings ever held, with a nightly attendance of about 300.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at 7 o'clock this evening at George Mason Hotel, when a program in the observance of the tenth anniversary of the organization will be carried out. The meeting will be designated as past president's night and a talk on the club and its objectives will be made by Miss Elizabeth Ramey, the first secretary.

Announcement has been made that May 19 will be set aside as registration day, and all persons who have not previously registered and those who have become 21 years of age, together with persons who have moved from one ward to another, are urged to register.

In the corporation court yesterday Judge W. P. Woolls fixed Friday as the date for the trial of the suit of Earl Dodd against four members of the police department, Sergts. Sims and Padgett and Policemen Jones and Curtis, to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 for the alleged unlawful entry of his house.

The thirtieth anniversary of the organization of Liberty Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, Odd Fellows, will be celebrated tonight in Odd Fellows' Hall, North Columbus street. Mrs. Eleanor H. Pitts, of Fredericksburg, president of the order in the Eighth District, will be present.

Judge William S. Snow and Alfred Thomson will present the report to the Rotary Club today of the district conference held in Norfolk last week. The program committee will present the Safety Engineers of both the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Southern Railway in addresses.

Man, Wife, 2 Girls, Lion Cub End 20,700-Mile Air Tour

Flying Family Returns to Capital Bearing Document Signed by Hoover and Every U. S. Governor; Plans Early Flight Throughout World.

A New York family returned to Washington yesterday, completing a tour of the country by airplane which took them to every State capital in the United States and which took them by air over 20,700 miles.

They brought with them a document signed by President Hoover in January before the tour started on January 6, and which now bears the signature of every governor in the country. The document is a message of confidence and optimism, which the chief executive had presented to George R. Hutchinson, who piloted the family plane on the trip.

With him on the entire journey were his wife, Mrs. Blanche Hutchinson, and his two small daughters, Janet Lee, 6 years old, and Blanche Katherine, 8 years old. The tour gave the children a claim to having spent more hours in the air than any other youngsters. Returning also was the mascot of the flight, a 6-month-old lion cub, "Governor."

Janet Lee, at 6, now has 470 hours to her credit and her elder sister has 540.

On his return to the Capital, Mr. Hutchinson had a short audience with President Hoover, showing him the document with the signatures of all the governors.

Mr. Hutchinson said that the flight was made with only one mishap. About a month after the journey started the Ctinson cabin ship was caught in the fog and snow near the northern border of the United States.

In searching a way through the fog the plane ran out of gas and was forced down on a snow-covered field near Kitchener, British Columbia. The snow proved a treacherous landing place and the trip was delayed a month while the plane was being repaired.

However, Mr. Hutchinson says that flying appeared to be much safer for members of his family than other forms of locomotion. In all of their hours ni the air his two daughters have never suffered a scratch. But one of them had her leg broken while sleighing and the other was seriously hurt when hit by an automobile truck.

Flying also appears to agree with lion cubs. When "Governor" left Washington about five months ago he weighed 20 pounds. He now tips the scales at 70.

America's flying family is not content to rest on its laurels, Mr. Hutchinson asserts. It is busy projecting a flight to every country in the world and hopes to take another message from Mr. Hoover to be signed by the rulers of other lands.

The Hutchinson family will leave Washington this morning for New York to continue plans for the world trip. According to tentative plans, the plane will be shipped to England and from there the flight will begin, covering Europe, and then going by easy stages to China and Japan. No water hops are contemplated, Mr. Hutchinson said. He hopes to start the new tour about the middle of June.

Lumber Schooner Victim Of New High Sea Racket

San Pedro, Calif., May 11 (U.P.).—Piracy on the high seas took a new turn here when the S. S. Wallingford, lumber schooner, berthed to discharge cargo. W. J. Allikas, chief engineer, leaned peacefully on the rail until two men stuck guns in his ribs.

"One bum move and you'll get plugged," said one. "I've got a wife and two kids who are starving. I don't want money, I want food. So hustle it up, matey, and break out the stores." Allicks was forced to hand over a quanity of hams and sides of bacon to the "pirates."

Remedy for Paralysis Is Believed Discovered

Paris, May 11 (U.P.).—Through the generosity of Baron Henri de Rothschild, a group of French physicians believe they have discovered a remedy for general paralysis. The treatment consists of an injection of a fever germ which fights the still-unsolved paralysis germ.

The treatment has just been tried out for the first time here at the Marcadet Hospital, in the presence of Baron Henri de Rothschild, Baron Phillippe de Rothschild and prominent physicians.

Lloyd George Welsh In All Except Birth

London, May 11 (A.P.).—David Lloyd George is Welsh in everything except birth. He was born in Manchester, but has lived in Wales most of his life.

The kind of affection Welshmen have for him is shown by a current story of an aged countryman, somewhat out of touch with events, who asked a stranger who was the King of England. "Why, George is king," was the astonished reply.

"Ah," said the oldster, "and has the little lawyer gone so far?"

Kansas Jackrabbits Are Becoming Rare

Norway, Kan., May 11 (U.P.).—Long-eared jackrabbits, one of the things for which the Sunflower State is best known, are becoming so rare in this section that they are seldom seen.

Only last season they were so numerous as to be destructive to fruit trees. The rapid decrease is attributed to the many drives against wolves during the winter. Hundreds of rabbits were slain in each.

ANOTHER "SCIENTIFIC" PROBE.

Inasmuch as eleven of the country's most distinguished jurists and public servants failed to solve prohibition, Col. Woodcock has decided to turn the problem over to college men. Perhaps some genius who is still submerged beneath a welter of academic illusions will concentrate his wisdom upon prohibition and bring forth the solution of the problem. The faith of Col. Woodcock is indeed awe-inspiring.

The foremost reason behind organization of the Wickersham Commission was to secure a "scientific" study of prohibition. That "scientific" study resulted in such a hopeless ramification of opinions that the public is more confused about the subject than it ever was before. Now it appears that the Prohibition Bureau considers Mr. Wickersham and his aids a bunch of quacks, and has turned to the universities as the only source of true science.

A commission of university professors is to make arrangements to have the public regaled with dissertations, theses, disquisitions, essays, treatises, tracts, discourses, memoirs, lectures, homilies, propaganda and pure buncombe on the enlightening subject of prohibition. Students are to be granted the "utmost academic freedom." In short, they will be left to shape their propaganda to suit their own tastes.

The public is weary of the futility of dealing "scientifically" with a subject which is the cat's-paw of politics and the bosom companion of blind prejudice. Nothing that any graduate student might write on prohibition could have any effect upon the public attitude, unless it were to add fuel to the flames of prejudice. Col. Woodcock might have spared the universities and consulted a witch doctor.

SOVIET MERCHANT SHIPS.

From several different sources come reports of progress in the harnessing of Soviet Russia for economic war. The entire energy of the communistic regime is devoted to mobilization of the Russian people for a struggle against capitalism. A single day's news brings forth reports of plans for a Soviet merchant marine, the pressing of women into industrial service, the increase of food prices to cut down home consumption so that more food will be available for dumping abroad, and the trial of factory superintendents who will become the goats for native inefficiency.

A dispatch to the Mining Journal, of London, regarding the proposed new Soviet fleet, is of unusual interest. It reads as follows:

> The Soviet authorities have decided to take in hand the immediate construction of a big red mercantile fleet, and the council of labor and defense has instructed the supreme economic council to guarantee the construction of 44 ships totaling 170,000 tons, as well as four oil tankers and a number of smaller craft to be completed before the end of 1931. The plan for 1932, moreover, includes the construction of shipbuilding and repairing yards, floating docks, &c.

Moscow's preparations for economic war would not, of course, be complete without a merchant fleet. By the use of convict and slave labor in the development of natural resources that were confiscated from the people, the Soviet is able to produce many commodities at a small fraction of what they cost in other countries. When the Soviet fleet is in operation it will be able to transport these same goods for almost nothing, and the reds will be in a still better position to ruin the industries of any nation that will trade with them. If the shipbuilding program is carried out, industrial competition will be intensified and a new menace will confront the shipping industry.

Russia can not gain industrial strength fast enough to please the dictators by forcing all men to work; so women are to be mobilized for the industrial system and the agricultural collectives. Women will be forced to drive tractors and operate farm machinery. More than 10,000,000 of them are already engaged in farm work. Apparently the dictators are determined to press every able-bodied person into the service of preparing Russia for the world revolution.

This is really a movement to destroy the home. Family life has no place in communism. It is considered inefficient. Hence, married women must give up their traditional role as mothers and home makers to slave in factories and fields. Children will be brought up by the state as slaves to communism. Homes, and all that that word implies, are to be replaced by community dwellings and kitchens. What need have the cogs in the Soviet's ruthless economic machine for homes? A place to eat and sleep is considered sufficient reward for their toil.

The sudden increase of 50 per cent in the price of virtually all commodities under control of the Soviet government is just another turn of the thumbscrews for the Russian masses. The Communist party has them completely within its power, and is extorting from them even the means of sustenance. If they can be forced to live on less, the dictators will have more to dump on the markets of the world.

UNREST IN ARGENTINA.

Disquieting reports from several South American republics indicate a recurrence of revolution. The overturns of government last year, largely due to unsatisfactory economic conditions, were accomplished with little bloodshed. The dangerous feature in connection with most of these sudden changes of administration lies, not so much in the violence attending them, as in the broad promises in the manifestoes of the new regimes.

Peoples new in the ways of orderly transfer of authority are not usually patient in their attitude toward rulers who take office either by force or popular election. If reforms are pledged in the campaign the population expects to see the fruits of performance delivered promptly. The pledges so readily made upon the rostrum and in the field are often impossible of fulfillment, or at least they require more time and preliminary work which the successful leader did not consider. His followers have no patience, once their candidate is in office. This is the reason why one revolution often precipitates another. The victors want the spoils, and they are in no mood to await the slow processes of economic laws.

Threatening conditions in Argentina, however, if late reports are true, are due to the other fruitful cause of political overturn—the sudden disposition of a successful revolutionary leader to become a worse despot than the executive he has deposed. No recent ruler in South America was inducted into office with more popular acclaim than that accorded to Gen. Jose Francisco Uriburu after his victory last September. One day of active fighting sufficed to place him in the chair occupied by Hipolito Irigoyen. Much was expected in the way of impartial political reforms, but the developments of recent weeks have been disappointing. President Uriburu has shown a most determined intention of retaining his conservatives in power, despite a pronounced tendency toward liberalism in the country. He has suppressed newspapers and issued strictest censorship regulations for the press. The climax seems to have been reached in his refusal to accept the result of the elections in the Province of Buenos Aires, which was won by the radicals. The Irigoyen party in Argentina is very powerful, notwithstanding the eccentricities of the strange old man who was deposed.

DRY WHISKY.

So far as the publicity branch of the Department of Agriculture is concerned there is a lull in the dissemination of communiques concerning the ravages of bugs, worms, foreign and domestic flies and similar pests which, following the lead of the Colorado potato beetle, army worm, Kansas grasshopper, Mexican pink boll weevil, European corn borer, Mediterranean fruit fly and their myriad companions in agricultural crime have for years preyed upon the defenseless farmer. No new insect menace has been reported from the publicity division of the department this season.

This quiet of the bug front has afforded the editorial staff of Mr. Hyde's department an excellent opportunity to devote its energies to the production of more pleasing literature. Those who are fortunate enough to receive these daily "releases" will, without doubt, receive with unalloyed joy the latest production, which reports the partial result of the investigations of the department's Bureau of Chemistry and Soils into the foods used by the aborigines of North America before the invasion of the palefaces. These investigations have brought to light the fact that many hundreds of indigenous roots, bulbs and herbs, which once furnished nutriment to the red man, offer opportunity for cultivation of valuable foods now little known, and altogether neglected by the white men. The bureau will soon publish a list of 1,000 indigenous uncultivated plants, many of which have been analyzed and their food value ascertained and, according to the "release" just issued, "by the development of the most promising of these little known plants it is hoped to produce in this country some of the plant products which must now be imported from foreign countries, and to establish new agricultural industries offering farmers of certain areas a more diversified type of farming."

The department has an exhibit in the Grand Central Palace in New York this week wherein is shown a collection of these little known specimens of the foods formerly used by the Indians, among which are the Psoralea esculanta, otherwise the prairie potato, and the camas, a plant used extensively by the Indians for the manufacture of a sweet sirup, and which is also ground into a flour by the Klamaths, Shoshones and Nez Perces.

But if the desire of the department to extend the cultivation of Lophophora williamsii is not curbed in time, the efforts of Mr. Hyde's scientists to "aid agriculture" will create a much greater uproar than did the action of the Farm Board in aiding the grape growers of California when it loaned large sums to the manufacturers of "Mabel's Concentrate;" for it is explained that the common name of the lophophora is "dry whisky," that it is a small plant belonging to the cactus family and is used by the Indians as an infusion or libation and that it "is very intoxicating." However, its name precludes the possibility that it will ever become popular in the speakeasies—it is too difficult to pronounce, especially after the second round.

HINDENBURG FOR LIFE.

For some months a movement has been on foot to make former Field Marshal von Hindenburg President of the German Republic for life. A steadying influence is needed to hold the Communists at bay on one hand and the Fascists on the other. President Hindenburg has been a strong influence for stabilization ever since he was elected. The People's party has definitely decided to sponsor a bill in the next Reichstag to extend the presidential term of the venerable soldier and statesman to the end of his life.

This announcement will be received with misgivings throughout the world. In spite of the fact that von Hindenburg has been a pillar of strength during his presidential term the republic would be weakened by a departure from the constitutional provisions for electing the president. By this same method Napoleon III reestablished the French Empire and brought disaster upon France. Perhaps there is no ground for assuming that President Hindenburg would encroach upon the republic (although he may be considered a representative of the old regime), but why should Germany expose her frail political system to derangement?

If the German people feel that President Hindenburg's services are valuable to the country, why not reelect him? There is a vast difference between authorizing him to carry on and setting up a life dictatorship. The next president after Hindenburg might not be quite so patriotic, and the people of Germany might be compelled to shed a lot of blood in order to regain the liberties they now enjoy.

FOKKER PLANES.

The Department of Commerce is to be commended for tightening the rules of safety in airplane construction and operation, as applied to Anthony Fokker. The fact that he is compelled to make alterations in his type of plane, after several fatal accidents, including that which brought death to Knute Rockne, is not a very good advertisement for passenger air traffic. No doubt builders of other models which are used on passenger lines are voluntarily overhauling their plans of construction and operation, in order to escape the setback which Fokker has received at the hands of the Government.

While the Department of Commerce has required Fokker to make alterations in his commercial planes, the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy is said to have called Fokker to account for the behavior of certain of his planes in the West, at Anacostia, and in Nicaragua. Narrow escapes are reported in several instances which have not been published in detail, besides the crash which killed a member of Congress.

Fokker's success in plane design and construction has placed him in a foremost position in the new industry. It can not be doubted that he will exert every effort to meet the requirements of the Government, in both commercial and military aviation.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., May 11.—Efforts of more than usual intensity are being made in Washington to reduce the expenditures of different departments. Such reduction is absolutely necessary unless there is to be an increase in taxes or debts.

The first study is being directed to our military establishment. This is not a productive governmental activity, but as it is a guarantee of order and peace, it supports all productive efforts. As a source of employment the Army and Navy are not large, providing for about 200,000 enlisted men. It is not thought there can be any saving in enlistments.

Some years ago careful investigations were made by Gen. Lord, director of the budget, in an attempt to stabilize military expenses at about half a billion dollars. So much opposition arose in the Congress that little progress was made. The Army and Navy now cost about $725,000,000. Instead of a reduction there has been a rather steady increase in appropriations. The interests involved have become firmly intrenched in Washington. If any saving is to be made it will require vigorous support from the country. The Congress will move in that direction only under compulsion.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

ALBERT A. MICHELSON

From the New York Herald Tribune.

The career of Albert Abraham Michelson, whose lamented, although not unexpected, death is reported from California, is perhaps the best of all examples among scientists of the value of concentration. In Prof. Michelson's biography in the standard list of American professional scientists there come first some brief notes of birthplace and personal history, then a long list of honors and accomplishments, finally one word in the place where individuals are expected to set down the scientific subjects in which they have been active. That one word is "light."

It is a true description. From the first days after his graduation from the United States Naval Academy in 1873, through his postgraduate studies in Germany and France and after he went to the University of Chicago to head its department of physics in 1892, Prof. Michelson spared but incidental thoughts for anything except his beloved light rays. Not even all the properties of light interested him more than mildly, for it was in measuring the speed of light and in nothing else in the universe that his mind found life-long absorption.

In the early days of this interest the chief problem was to determine this speed exactly. Among several determinations made before young Michelson was graduated from the Academy there was wide disagreement. Two years later the budding physicist came back to teach at the Academy, and already he was turning over in his mind ways to measure light's speed more precisely. As the years passed and one measurement after another was completed, the task became more important, for the progress of physical theory pushed in to more and more fundamental place in science the exact value of this speed, now regarded as probably the most significant of all the constants of nature.

Presently, however, the goal which Prof. Michelson sought became not only a more and more precise measurement of the speed of light, but a hope that this speed might be found to be variable, especially with different speeds of the earth in different parts of its orbit. At the Case School at Cleveland Prof. Michelson and his colleague, Prof. Morley, carried out the famous experiment known by their names, the object of which was to detect these variations of the speed of light. Its failure to do so gave rise to the reasoning which was to lead Dr. Einstein to his first theory of relativity.

Why Despise a Man as Dumb as an Ox if You Don't Despise the Ox?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE caste system of India, with its sacred Brahmans and its millions of "untouchables" whose very shadow is a contamination, seems absurd and brutal to Americans.

Yet it is not more strange than man's contempt for man in other lands.

In all parts of America you will find fortunate people, possessed of every advantage that wealth can provide, who feel an active and almost vindictive scorn for those who are called the "common people."

And among these "common people" who compose the great middle class—people who own homes and cars and send their boys and girls to college—you will find many whose contempt for the unwashed illiterates and the feeble-minded is almost a feeling of hatred.

Why do people so despise those who are less gifted and less fortunate than themselves?

You can understand that clean and cultured people would not enjoy entertaining the unwashed vulgar at dinner, and there are obvious reasons why the educated and well-informed should not choose as intimates the illiterates and the stupid. People who have little in common can't enjoy one another.

But how do you explain the scorn that finds expression in such words as "nobodies" and "common people?"

Why do the scornful ones feel such an active dislike—such as enmity—such a personal and resentful contempt for those less fortunate and less gifted?

Is it because of their ignorance, poverty or uncleanliness? Surely not; for dogs are ignorant and unclean and without property, yet they are loved and may eat beside the master's chair.

Is it an honest scorn of incompetence and stupidity? How could that be? People do not feel dislike or contempt for one born with a crippled body. Why should a crippled body deserve more pity than a crippled mind?

You must go deeper for the explanation.

Those who hate an inferior race most are the ones nearest to its social level.

As the town man most scornful of "hicks" is the one newly arrived from the country, so those most scornful of "inferiors" are the people not quite sure of their own superiority.

We look for differences between man and monkey because the monkey is so much like us.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

"The Next United States."

Detroit News.

We do not commonly expect to have our imagination touched by the things that pass at political banquets. However, a well-wisher of Franklin Roosevelt launched an interesting train of thought when he hailed the Governor the other night at a New York dinner by crying, somewhat confusedly, "Hurrah for the President of the next United States."

An interesting train of thought, because there will be a "next United States" just as surely as there has been several quite distinct United States since the founders 150 years ago brought 13 colonies of maritime and farming people into a free federation.

There was the United States of the era of expansion, when the winning of the Middle West and the land beyond was a main preoccupation of the government. There was the new United States, truly united at last, that rose from the fire of a war testing the conception of an indivisible union. Thirty-odd years ago we assumed yet another shape, that of an isolated nation involved finally in the affairs of the larger world, the first suggestions of something we had sedulously avoided, an imperial United States.

An Act That Acts.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Senate committee on campaign expenditures has called on three educators to assist in the work of drafting an effective corrupt practices act. These assistants are James K. Pollock, professor of political science at Michigan University; Earl R. Sikes, professor of economics at Dartmouth, and Miss Louise Overacher, assistant professor of history and government at Wellesley. They have given the committee some excellent advice. Miss Overacher's observation, for instance, that she believed in the publicity rather than prohibition of campaign contributions, reveals a sound philosophy as well as practical political judgment. And everyone conversant with the facts will agree with Prof. Pollock that a corrupt practices act which does not regulate primaries is "less than half a law."

What a Nose!

Los Angeles Times.

Chairman Shouse, of Democracy, is said to have gotten a new scent in California. It was not gardenias, nor roses, nor yet prange blossoms. He "smelled it at Los Angeles; at San Francisco; not so much at Portland; a little more at Seattle," is the word out of the East. Nor was it Hollywood—too delicate for that! He scented a Democratic victory in 1932! What a nose that man must have!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

When Business Acumen Is Put to Work on Problem of Adjusting Production to Demand, the Machine Will Help the Worker Instead of Displacing Him.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The American section of the International Chamber of Commerce rightly holds that "technological advancement has created far more jobs than it has destroyed."

The workers often believe that a labor-saving device will only cost more men their jobs. It is an old story. When the weavers of cloth in the last century found that machines were making the skill of their hands valueless, they rebelled. In Manchester and other centers where factories were springing up there were riots and demonstrations by the workers of the old looms. The artisans maintained that machines would ruin them, as only one operator was needed to do the work of many. However, in a short time the factories were employing more men than had ever before been engaged in the trade, and these men could get better clothes for less money than before.

The great economic changes of the past few decades have all been in the direction of greater production, in an effort to supply the rapidly growing demand. Now it is the reverse. This period of transition is not seeking to increase the production, but to maintain if not surpass its former level of output by establishing production on a firmer foundation. By employing the same scientific exactitude in gaging markets and demand as is now used in the technical end, manufacturers will proceed on sounder ground, which will tend to eliminate these times of economic distress. Workers will profit in the end by the greater stabilization and exactitude of production and the higher wages.

ECONOMIST.

Texas Democrat Denounces Raskob and Declares His State Will Support William G. McAdoo.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I heartily indorse the recent published statement of Secretary McAdoo that prohibition is a "sham issue" to distract the public from the vital, important, financial and economic questions that mean employment to the unemployed, prosperity to the farm, and food to the hungry. It matters but little to high finance whether Mr. Hoover—the alleged prohibitionist, or Gov. Roosevelt—the admitted anti, be President, because in either case their rule will continue, their power will be extended, the rich will grow richer and the poor grow poorer.

I confess my great disappointment in President Hoover. I supported him actively and loyally, voting the Republican ticket for the first time in my life. I believed him to be independent of Wall street control, to have the experience and intelligence to understand the needs of our country and to have the heart and courage to stand for the interest of the people. The man who has this understanding and this courage is William G. McAdoo. He can be elected and he is the one man who can and will quickly wrest the Government from the control of the international banker and restore prosperity to this sorely stricken land.

His election would also overthrow the alien forces that control the Democratic party and bring the South and the West together into a rejuvenated party and thereby save our country from threatening revolution. He is the man of the hour and he will respond to the call of the people. Texas will offer him to the country as her candidate, and her delegates will stay at Madison Square Garden or elsewhere until he is nominated, "if it takes all summer."

It is the crowd that defeated him that now owns and operates the national Democratic party and proposes to commit it to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Mr. McAdoo not only carried every Southern State, but every State in the Union where an election was held. It was Murphy and Brennan and Taggart and the boss-controlled States that tied up the convention and defeated him.

It is the Raskob-Smith wing of the party that we of the South rebel against; not merely because they are wet but also because their ideas and ideals, their economic interest and their political principles—if they have any—are utterly foreign and antagonistic to ours. We belong with the Progressives of the West and not with Tammany. The sooner such union is brought about the better, for in it lies the hope for the preservation of our system of government. G. W. ARMSTRONG.

Fort Worth, Tex.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" a Wonderful Anthem—Long May It Wave!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is only one stanza of the national anthem which is suggestive of hatred, and that is entirely obsolete. Nobody ever sings it and very few people know it.

The tune can be so pitched as to make it quite easy to sing.

When the hymns of all nations are played at the same time, as they frequently are, "The Star-Spangled Banner" is as stirring as any of them, save only the matchless "Marseillaise."

The beautiful thought which went surging through the brain of Francis Scott Key all through that anxious night has gone all over the world and deep into every American heart.

There is a story told of some little immigrant children that when on their way to America they met the emblem in midocean they lisped in a language of which that was the only word they knew, "The Star-Spangled Banner."

In the words of its inspired author we repeat, "Long may it wave!"

Annapolis, Md., May 11.—Members of the official board of visitors appointed to make the annual inspections of the Naval Academy and determine its needs for the next academic term organized here today. Men Who Died at Sea In 1917 to Be Honored

(Associated Press.)

The memory of the men who died when a German torpedo sank the U. S. destroyer Jacob Jones in 1917 will be especially honored on Memorial Day. An anchor of poppies is to be cast into the sea in the area off the coast of Ireland where the Jacob Jones sank.

Acting Secretary Jahncke of the Navy today will present the anchor to Mrs. Virgil McClure, national president of the American War Mothers. She, in turn, will place the wreath in the hands of Mrs. Flora S. Kalk, the mother of one of the officers of the Jacob Jones. She will cast the anchor into the sea, en route as a Gold Star Mother, to visit American cemeteries in France.

We Invite You to See An Exhibit of Early American Coverlets

Some of the Most Valuable Existing Specimens of Hand Weaving

This collection shows the history of the textile art from the oldest weaving in the collection, 1796, to the most modern piece, woven in 1930. Early American coverlets are completely handmade, hand-spun, hand-dyed and hand-woven. Among the many famous designs included are "Wreath of Roses," "Grapes and Stars," "Acorns and Roses," "Lover's Knot" and "Old Boston Town."

Today the genuine beauty of the old designs, the poetic appeal of their names, the renaissance of interest in all things Colonial, have caused a revival of the hand-weaving art which bids fair to be permanent. Come in and see Professor Gains' beautiful and interesting collection, here through May 15th.

"Jefferson's Garden" Coverlet
Copies—Popularly Priced During This Special Exhibit $5.95

The original coverlet was woven by Barbara Frietchie. In the gorgeous mixture of stars, wreath of roses, and tree of life, you see the history of American liberty told again in this reproduction of this handsome old coverlet.

Clean and remove rubbish. Paint and protect all wood and metal work on your home and make it as fresh and beautiful as the spring flowers.

The metal roofs, spouts and gutters should be painted at least every two years with the best roofing paint.

You insure your property to protect you against loss by fire. Paint is the cheapest insurance against decay of metal and woodwork. Why not use paint to insure you against this loss and expense for extensive repairs. By so doing, you show a civic interest in the appearance of your property.

Cheap material is costly at any price. Use only the best paints, varnishes and enamels, such as you can obtain from a company with an enviable reputation for fair dealing and who handle only the best painting materials on the market. "SOUND AS A DOLLAR"

In a purely grammatical sense "sound" is one of those absolute words that do not admit of comparison—it being held that a thing is either SOUND or UNSOUND.

But one often hears the homely old expression "Sound as a dollar" used to describe something which meets the most exacting requirements beyond all possibility of argument.

Grammatical or not, there is certainly nothing sounder than a dollar—especially if it is a dollar placed on deposit and drawing interest, safely invested in good securities, or saved against the time when it may be needed in some matter of extremity.

"GOOD MIXERS" MAKE PARTIES ENJOYABLE

"Good mixers"—congenial, agreeable folk—make evenings merry. At such gatherings NATIONAL GINGER ALE is the favorite; it's a sparkling, exhilarating drink that adds zest to the party.

Among "good mixers" NATIONAL GINGER ALE brings to tiring parties the best of spirits as the crown sips from bubbling glasses.

And the cost is but a small part of other good ginger ales!

Order a case of NATIONAL GINGER ALE from your grocer or druggist! You yourself will enjoy this delicious drink as you while away the hours—and, when company comes in unexpectedly, you, too, will become "a good mixer."

A WORD FROM THE WISE

"He is happiest, king or peasant, who has a home of his own."
—Goethe.

These words are especially true when applied to one of our modern, up-to-date FOXALL homes. This new home development is convenient in location and reasonable in price. Close to the bus line, it is just a few minutes from the heart of Washington. Yet it is far enough out to combine the pure fresh air and spacious openness of the country with the pleasures and comforts of the city.

To own a FOXALL HOME is to possess the key to happiness. The pride of possession, the security of ownership, the wisdom of economic living—these can all be yours if you will consult

Metropolitan Museum

For Metropolitan Museum combs the world for the best in ART. Yet no object can surpass the beauty and artistic merit of the candy, favors, fancy ice creams and French pastries found at Avignone Freres.

TOO BEAUTIFUL TO EAT

is the expression we hear, but their products are just as good as they are beautiful. Their cream candies melt in your mouth "like dew before the sun." The day President Hoover was inaugurated, the bust of the President was fashioned into candy—and a most excellent likeness was the result.

They are artists, and all you have to do is to put the order in—and the finished piece is a work of Art—pure and delectable also.

AD CONTEST PRIZES OPEN TO EVERYBODY

Wednesday Noon Deadline for Fifth Week of Writing Test.

Hurry folks, and get your ads in for the fifth week of The Post Zain Ad-writing contest. Time is flying. Wednesday noon is the deadline. There will be lots of prizes for everyone. If you haven't won a prize yet send in those ads and be a winner this week. Everybody ready, let's go! Perhaps some of these daily suggestions about what to incorporate in your ads for the participating concerns may give you some prize-winning ideas.

Most Popular Theater in City.

Write some ads about the Earle Theater. This theater not only entertains but it instructs. The news reel is only one of its educational features. Let your ads tell about its superior stage presentations with the charming Thank You girl, Miss Maxine Doyle. Feature its Warner Bros. productions. Tell about the friendly atmosphere the Earle Theater affords; its well trained courteous employes; the ventilator system and all the things that go to make the Earle Theater the most popular theater in Washington.

The Home of Courteous Employes.

There is the Home Laundry to write about. In writing your ads for this concern always remember that the Home Laundry, besides being a laundry for the home, is also the home of courteous employes. Each employe is individually trained so that the public will receive only courteous treatment. Another important fact to remember is that everything laundered by this concern is "double checked" for sanitation and cleanliness. By doing this the public is safe guarded. You will find one of this laundry's efficient, well trained, uniformed drivers in your neighborhood. He will be only too glad to give you additional information about this laundry or call the Home Laundry and let the manager give you pointers on what to write in your ads.

One of Three Drinks Wilkins'.

Did you know that more than one-third of all the people in Greater Washington drink Wilkins coffee? Incorporate that in your ads about this famous drink. Wilkins coffee is flame roasted, ground and packaged in triple sealed carton entirely by automatic machinery—no human hands come in contact with it at any time. Another interesting fact you might use in some of your ads is this: The Wilkins Coffee Co. was the f t in the United States to deliver coffee on a regular set schedule to grocers just as bread is delivered. Wilkins Coffee Co. is a local concern, employing Washington people only. During the business depression from which the country suffered, this company made no salary cuts and no men have been laid off. All these things combine to make Wilkins coffee—Just Wonderful.

Foot Fatigue Is Unknown.

Edmonston & Co.'s shoe fame has reached all parts of Washington. That is one reason this concern is such a splendid subject for ads. It sells only such shoes as are in line with its strict policy; the Physical Culture shoe, designed for foot comfort and smartness, for women, and Stacy Adams shoes for gentlemen. These shoes as well as the shoes for boys and girls reflect the most outstanding styles. Their comfort features are impossible to detect. Foot fatigue is unknown when you wear Edmonston & Co. shoes.

Wonderful Pictures Cost Little.

Having your photograph made by the same artists who make the wonderful pictures of prominent people that you see in the papers is possible when you go to the studio of Underwood & Underwood. But what many people do not know is that these superior pictures will cost you no more than you'd probably spend for photographs of the ordinary kind. Write an advertisement in which this is clearly covered. The prices of Underwood portraits are as low as $20 for a dozen. Many have used the phrase from Robert Burns, "O, wad some power the giftie gie us to see outsels as ithers see us." But none have continued with the reasons why Underwood & Underwood portraits would be better in this connection than ordinary pictures. Always give reasons "why" in your ads and make them simple, dignified and clear, and remember Underwood's moderate prices.

MRS. MARY MEACHAM BURIAL.

Services for Lifelong Resident of Capital to Be Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ellen Meacham, of 1441 Spring road northwest, will be conducted at the Sacred Heart Church this morning at 8:30 o'clock, and interment will follow in Congressional Cemetery.

Mrs. Meacham died Sunday at her home, being 71 years old at the time of her death. She was a lifelong resident of Washington, and the widow of Charles E. Meacham, who died about ten years ago.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Clara Meacham, and three sisters, Mrs. E. S. Smith, Mrs. Fred Price and Mrs. C. H. Grace, all of this city.

Native Borr Japs Shorter.

Tokyo, May 11 (U.P.). — Japanese children born in Hawaii and the United States are taller and stronger than those born in Japan, Dr. F. Ishihara, of the Medical School of Tokyo Imperial University, said on return from an American tour. The physician blamed the Japanese custom of squatting on the floors instead of sitting in chairs as partly responsible.

Fifth Lap in Ad Race Ending; Read Rules, Enter Contest

Every Competitor Has Equal Chance to Win Prizes in Post-Zain Event; Grand Award of $1,000 Should Lure Many Writers.

We are on the last lap of the fifth race of The Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest. As in a horse race, sometimes it appears that no one is trying to win and the horses are all running about even, so it is in this race. Every one has an equal chance of winning, but no one is leading. Why don't you be the one to pass the others in the race. Now is your opportunity. Only a day and a half left, but many times in a race we have seen the last horse suddenly start passing all the other entries and wind up winner. You have that same chance now.

Write more ads, give yourself every chance of winning. It's worth burning that "midnight oil." That $100 first prize, that $165 ABC washer, those three strands of triple X Richelieu pearls and the 175 merchandise awards are waiting for you. The ads you submit today may be the ones to pass all the others and win. That very ad may be the one to win that $1,000 grand prize at the close of this contest.

Read the rules that appear on this page and those boxes of special prizes. It is all so simple and easy, and you have so much to gain by spending a little time each day writing ads about the 35 participating concerns. Remember, to be eligible for the grand award of $1,000 you must write at least one ad about each of the 35 concerns. Why stop at one ad about each? There is no limit to the prizes you can win and the knowledge that you have just as much chance to win that $1,000 as any one else in the contest should behoove you to put forth every effort and get busy writing ads. The more you write, the easier it will be. If you have not written an ad before, start today, and if you have written ads keep on writing more and more each day.

You can be a winner—it is that stick-to-iveness that wins. We are in an "improving" age. Each day many things are done to perfect this or that. So it should be with you. Each day try to write better ads than the preceding day, and the more you write the better they will be.

The day when the $1,000 winner will be announced is getting closer and closer. No matter whether you are in the 'teens or seventies, you have a chance to win that $1,000 award for the best ad written during the entire contest. You have ideas. Put them on paper in the form of an ad.

Write that ad today. You may not think it any good, but the judges may select that one ad as the $100 prize winner for this fifth week. Come on let's go. You have until Wednesday noon to submit your ads for this current period judging. Any ads that come in after 12 o'clock Wednesday will automatically be considered in next week's judging, so get them in before Wednesday noon.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

I SPRAYED all my house plants with soapy water and later with nicotine, but they are still covered with white flies. What do you suggest? A. J. B.

One spraying with any one liquid is of little or no use, but constant, daily spraying with cold water will keep any house plant from being really injured by white flies.

Please tell me of a petunia that blooms profusely and is a soft pink. All I get, no matter what they are named, soon become a cloudy magenta, which I abominate. I can purchase almost any variety you will mention, as I live in a large city where we have seed houses which will obtain for us any particular variety we want. JULIE N. G.

Angel of Heaven is, to my mind, the finest pink petunia I ever saw. It has a fine constitution, blooms profusely and is a soft, shell pink. Of course, to get the most out of any variety you must be sure to keep the dead flowers and leaves removed and the plants well watered.

Please tell me of a good bush rose that blooms well and is quite hardy. I want a deep red variety.

MRS. HENRY T. P.

Syracuse is the new rose which measures up to your requirements. If you can not find it listed in your catalogues and care to write again, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will be glad to tell you where you may obtain it.

Please tell me when to prune a forsythia. Mine bloomed most beautifully this year. Also a mock orange which has not bloomed at all. I pruned the latter bush in April.

HANNAH T. W.

Prune a forsythia as soon as it has finished blooming. It blooms on wood made the previous season. Your mock orange also blooms on wood made the previous summer; therefore, when you pruned it in April you cut away blooming wood and hence had no flowers. From this time until after it has bloomed next April or May do not attempt to remove anything except the wood which has been winter-killed.

Please tell me how to improve the soil in my border. JAMES T. P.

If your soil is impoverished, add some new soil (preferably leafmold), also a generous quantity of bonemeal and a small quantity of sheep manure. Well-rotted manure is, I think, better than the bonemeal and sheep manure, but it is rather hard, especially for people in cities, to obtain this form of fertilizer.

Please tell me for what garden ill you use Massey dust; also the formula. ALICE T. W.

Massey dust is the preparation which is used to control black spot, a much-dreaded rose disease. The Massey dust has a twofold purpose. It controls black spot and cures mildew. It is a powder composed of nine parts dusting sulphur and one part lead arsenate.

Please tell me whether zinnias will grow in partial shade. ANN H. T.

No. Zinnias require at the least a half a day's strong sun.

Please tell me when to prune a hydrangea grandiflora. Also a forsythia. EVE A. D.

Prune hydrangea in the early spring. This shrub blooms on wood made the same season. Prune forsythia after it has finished flowering, as this variety blooms on wood made the previous season.

Can you tell me if the climbing rose New Dawn is a sport of the popular Dr. W. Van Fleet? Is it apple blossom pink in color and apparently hardy? JANET F. W.

Yes, New Dawn is an important introduction and should merit the attention of every gardener.

I have a large moonflower plant which does not seem to be alive. My neighbor's dog may have killed it. Is there anything I can do to stimulate growth? ANNE T. W.

A moonflower vine is an annual. It never comes up the second season. Better plant a new root or sow some seed. It is a rapid-growing vine and will make a heavy growth in one season.

An Interpreter of the Mode

Nile green silk organdie is charmingly and unusually stitched in this informal evening frock, with its quaint bertha collar. (A Dah-ray design.)

New York, May 11.

WHAT'S the best thing to have clasped around our fair throats this spring? Really, I'm thinking of necklaces! And of what a very famous designer of them told me. That is, if you go in for necklaces at all—and even she who sells them as well as designs them insisted that not everybody should go in for them—you must go in for them in a big way. The neat, but not gaudy, single strand of pearls or anything else, is just not worn, except by my very dear maiden aunt, who thinks because her single strand of pearls are real she can wear them with any and every costume and for any and every occasion!

But then my very dear maiden aunt isn't as interested as we are is what's smart and what happens to be smart in necklaces this season is two or three, or even four, strands of oval or flattened beads, rather large and rather spectacular. Chalky-white composition beads with black or navy blue and yellow with beige or brown. These are new, but more or less conventional—what's really out of the ordinary is the tiny gold or silver buttons strung in thick clusters and interspersed with clusters of black buttons or with black oblong plaques. Sometimess these gold or silver buttons are strung in such a way as to form a perfectly fitting round collar about 3 or 4 inches deep in back and with a rather long rope formed of the buttons suspended in front.

This business of not everybody being able to wear necklaces is very serious when the smart necklaces tend to be heavy. For then only the lucky, swan-like necked among us can safely wear them. For the others there are the extremely lovely, quite large and flat pendants,, rather cubistic and modernistic in design, that are worn from a thin black or green cord, or from a chain. Two silver flying fishes with emerald eyes and suspended facing each other on a black cord was worn by almost all the mannequins at one of the haute couture houses.

And what do you think of a pink maribou and strasse necklace that I saw worn with pink chiffon lounging pajamas?

* * * *

The very minute I found out how popular organdie, and silk organdie, were going to be this season, my mind began to paint for me delightful, airy, springlike frocks. One of my dream frocks I thought so lovely that I have sketched it for you today. This would be of nile green organdie, now wouldn't it! And in keeping with the lightness of the material is the delicate silver stitching— rows and rows of it—on the skirt and the demure bertha collar. And lest my frock seem to some too "jeune fille" for practicability, there's the sophisticated, swathed hip to lend it the proper worldly note!

* * * *

The very cleverest of our lovely ladies are making their own clothes this year! Yes, even their own coats—which takes some making, if you see what I mean, to avoid a tell-tale home-made appearance! I thought my deah public would sort of like to knw how to make a coat that wouldn't have a single line or seam or button that spoke of the clever fingers that created it—and so I kept on looking around until I found the very thing! I have described it fully in my leaflet this week and all you need to do is to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. I tell you how to make a beret and scarf to wear with this coat, too. "N" while the coat itself is made out of very little material, it is the most chic and becoming style you can imagine—and one that will do as well for motor trips and autumn days as it does for coolish evenings right now!

* * * *

Smart hats and proper trimmings! You'll want to read about them in Dare's weekly fashion letter in next Sunday's Washington Post.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

He Would Like Sympathy.

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: I am a man nearing 50 years of age, have been married seventeen years and for the most part of that time was perfectly happy. My wife has always been a good pal to me, sharing whatever of poverty and hardships that come to me. In fact, money left to her by her father bought our home and she has bought most of her own clothes. In fact, I know that she is exceptional. I appreciate all this, yet I tire of it, and have played around with other women quite a bit, not worse than most men, but somehow my wife always learns of my affairs. She finds their letters to me and sometimes our friends see me and tell her about it. Recently I had an affair with a married woman. I admit we went everywhere together day and night. The woman has told my wife all that happened between us, how much I cared for her, how I'd begged her to leave with me, and how little I cared for my wife. Needless to say, my wife is furious. We never quarreled before over anything else, but for six months now my wife has cried almost continually and insists I must not even speak to this woman or she will leave me. Is my wife right; do I deserve to face a broken home and divorce at my age? What about it, you wives who have had redblooded men for husbands? Tell me through the paper. I want your opinion. Is my wife being fair? And you, men, some of you who couldn't resist, "the other woman," and broke up your homes? What is my duty?

"TOM."

What is your duty? Telling a man, Tom, what duty is would be waste of time. You have not the character nor the will to acknowledge duty. You are just a weak, slithery soul, ambling surreptitiously from one deceit to the next. Your wife paid for the roof over your silly head and for her own clothes while you slipped into other men's homes for cheap amusement. And now you are whining because you are to be roofless. And you should be roofless and promptly. Your wife should dry her tears and pack her belongings, sell the house and sue you for divorce. Why women will spend a lifetime on such men as you is one of life's eternal mysteries. Men never waste an extra word on you. To other men you are labeled with the label of the weakling. And they turn aside in disgust. But women are forever keeping roofs over your heads and taking in boarders to keep you from starving. And covering up your miserable little deceits. I would rather have a good dog. But then good dogs are scarce and third rate men are plentiful. And that may account for things.

No use to tell you what to do. You will always do whatever requires the least effort.

Your wife is the one who should do. She should lock the door after making sure you are on the outer side and let you spend the rest of your days in a hall room—or the poor house.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS."

IF MAY 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. from 2:15 p. m. to 4:30 p. m., and from 8:45 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from noon to 1:45 p m and from 6:10 p m. to 8:25 p. m.

May 12, according to the astrological signs, will be marked by steady progress and financial betterment. Nothing of a spectacular character will happen, but advancement will be made along the lines of endeavor to which you usually devote your efforts.

A child born on this May 12 will, as a result of precociousness, promise much and generate great hopes. As maturity approaches, the flame will disappear and only a flicker will remain. It will develop along mediocre lines, but its disposition will be affectionate.

Born on May 12, you have a romantic disposition and are always investing "commonplaces" with a glitter that they do not possess. An incident becomes an adventure, while a trifle becomes a thing of importance. In this way, you magnify, not only pleasures, but troubles. It would be better for you to be able to measure action and thought at a just value in order to avoid excesses of optimism or the despair of pessimism. Normalcy is always preferable to exaggeration.

You lack a sense of humor, and take yourself altogether too seriously. It is well to form and to hold strong convictions. There is not need, however, to air them in public, unless the occasion is propitious. Your ideas may mean much to you as an individual, but they at times bore others.

You, when you feel like it, are a quick and hard worker. You are not, however, a steady one. Your nature is an affectionate one, and you are very appreciative of and grateful for kindness. There is no malice in your make up; you overrate the virtues of your friends and underestimate their weaknesses. You, by your temperament, are more fitted to work in association with others, than "go it on your own."

Successful people born May 12:

David Jones, the fighting parson.

Edward P. Allis, founded in Milwaukee the largest engine works in the world.

Henry Cabot Lodge, senator.

Frank Crane, journalist.

Mme. Nordica, singer.

Sir Arthur Sullivan, musical composer.

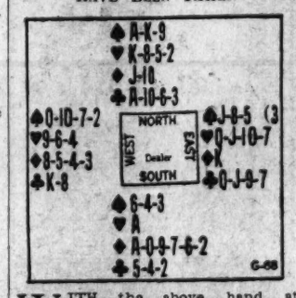
WORK ON BRIDGE

A TRICK THAT SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN TAKEN



WITH the above hand at Auction Bridge, the bidding would be: South one Diamond, West pass, North one No Trump, followed by three passes.

At Contract Bridge South would bid the same Diamond and West would make the same pass, but North's No Trump bid would be three and that would end the contracting.

When the hand was played, East led the Queen of Hearts which South had to win. The Declarer, desiring to finesse the Diamonds, put his closed hand in with a Spade and then led the Jack of Diamonds. When East covered with the King, he delightedly won the trick with the Ace; then, assuming that dummy's Diamonds were established, South followed with the Queen so as to keep the lead in the dummy hand to run them. When East refused and it turned out that West had the Diamonds stoped, Declarer was able to win only three Diamond tricks and took in all two Spades, two Hearts, three Diamonds and one Club, falling one trick short of game.

Do you see his error?

THE CORRECT PLAY

When the Jack of Diamonds was led from the closed hand and covered by the King, there was much more than a possibility that East had only a singleton and that West held four to the Eight which would stop the suit. Of course East might have covered with the King and one, hoping that West had Ten and two others; and in that event, failing to win the first Diamond would cost a trick. But it would be the trick immaterial as the Declarer was sure to make ten tricks if he ducked the King of Diamonds, and he should not have risked game merely for a chance of making an extra trick. With a small Diamond played from dummy on East's King, the running of the rest of dummy's Diamonds was assured, and Declarer would take two Spades, Two Hearts, five Diamonds and one Club.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH.D.

THE family name "Liggett" is of English origin. In most cases it is one of the several modern forms of "Lidgate." "Lidgate" also spelled "Lidgett," "Lidyat," "Liggate," "Ligget" and "Liddiatt") is derived from the Middle English "hild-gett." It means "the lid-gate" and "the swing-gate," and has reference to a kind of swinging gate which was opened and closed like a lid. It belongs to that large group of family names which indicate an original place of residence. A certain Walter atte Lideyate is mentioned in the Hundred Rolls. An English document of the year 1379 includes the names of Matilda atte Lydeyate, Robertus atte Lytheyate and Johannes Robertman atte Lythgat. However, "Liggett" and its many variations have frequently become confused with "Leggat," "Leggate" and "Leggett."

The commonest variations of the family name "Leggat" are "Leggate," "Leggett," "Leggatt," "Leggitt" and "Leggott." Although these names are often merely weak forms of "Lidgate" and "Liggett," they have generally come down to us from two other quite different sources. Sometimes they are derived from the Old French "legat," meaning "the legate" and "the commissioner," and not infrequently designated a papal ambassador. When "Leggat" and its variations are derived from such a source they indicate the occupation or title of the persons who were first so called. Sometimes these names are derived from the Old English "leahgeat," meaning "the lea-gate," that is, the gate near the meadow, and indicate an original place of residence. There is a village called "Legate" in Cumberland and another called "Lee Gate" in Yorkshire. There is evidence that in some cases the families which bear the above names were given them because of a former residence in one of those villages. Finally, in considering the meanings of the various English names ending in "-gate," one should remember that frequently in northern English names the ending "-gate" represents the Old Norse "gata," meaning "the path." The Hundred Rolls includes the names of Geoffrey le Legat, Robert Legat and Thomas Legat.

A risk no woman should take health risk in ill-made substitutes for Kotex

NO woman should deliberately risk health by using a sanitary pad of doubtful hygienic value. Yet that is what you do, if you accept a substitute because it merely looks like Kotex.

You should ask how this substitute was made. Where? By whom? Would a hospital use it?

Trust no pad that cannot answer these questions to your entire satisfaction. Every woman, at these times, needs the purity of Kotex. Its absolute immaculacy. Kotex is made with hospital care. Its use in hospitals proves that. This assurance is worth everything to you—far more than the few pennies you may save by accepting a substitute of whose makers you know nothing.

Kotex is adjustable. Soft. May be worn on either side with safety.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Kentucky Race Will Give Thrill To Capital Folk

Vice President Curtis to Attend Derby With Social Leaders.

THE big event of the week, although far from Washington, is the famous Kentucky Derby, and in the direction of Louisville turn all kinds of people; those interested in the horses, as a sport; those whose business it is to be interested; those who want to be seen, and those who go "just for the ride."

Of all the races run in this country, the Derby is probably the best-known and the most popular. The famous traditions of Kentucky come to the fore when the Derby is mentioned; Kentucky's beautiful women, its splendid horses and, last, but even now, not least, its mint juleps. Many parties will leave Washington this week by motor, or by train, for the "blue grass country," to make the trip for the great day, Saturday.

Last year the glamorous aspect of Churchill Downs was enhanced by the presence of Edward George Villiers Stanley, seventeenth Earl of Derby, known to his friends, Lord Derby, who came to this country to attend the race of which he had heard so much. He was most eager to know why the Kentucky Derby, named for the English racing classic instituted by an Earl of Derby in the days of George III, was pronounced by Americans as if it were a bowler, which, in British, is a hat.

This year the genial Englishman will not be there to enjoy the race, but among the Washingtonians who will make the trip this week are the Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis, always a devotee of the track, with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard B. Jones, whose horse Gallant Knight ran such a close race last year with the winner, Gallant Fox, will leave the Capital early Thursday for Louisville. Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis will motor tomorrow to join the party of Gov. Sampson and will be his guests during their stay in Kentucky. Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson left yesterday, and late in the week Mrs. Sidney Cloman, Mrs. George T. Marye, Mrs. Wilson Pritchett, Mr. Breckinridge Long, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sanders and Mr. William Hitt will make the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter have taken a house near Louisville, where they will entertain friends for the duration of the festivities.

Mrs. Hoover Entertains For Bride-Elect.

In the nature of a farewell party, Mrs. Hoover entertained a small group at luncheon yesterday at the White House in honor of Miss Ruth Fesler, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Lockwood Lipman, of San Francisco, will take place May 22 at her home in Duluth, Minn.

Miss Fesler departed shortly after the luncheon to start for Duluth.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson have as their guest at Woodley Mrs. Stimson's niece, Mrs. David Daggett, of New Haven, Conn. Mrs. Daggett will leave shortly to rejoin her husband at their home in New England.

Rear Admiral Thomas T. Craven, who has been in command of the American naval forces on the Yangtse-Kiang, China, for the last two years, has arrived in New York to join Mrs. Craven and their daughter, Miss Olga Craven. After a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rodman de Kay at Port Washington, Long Island, the Admiral will come to Washington for duty at the Navy Department.

Mrs. Benjamin Frank Stearns will entertain at luncheon today at the Shoreham.

The guests will be Mrs. James L. Baity, Mrs. L. H. Hannah, Mrs. J. H. Sheppard, Mrs. G. C. Whaten, Mrs. James C. Petty, Mrs. William C. Bastian, Mrs. H. H. Rice, Mrs. Charles Shreve, Mrs. P. E. Petty, Mrs. James L. McAgon and Mrs. R. E. Potter.

Italy-America Society Told About Florence.

The Italy-America Society of Washington held its last meeting of the season last evening at the Mayflower, when Mme. Regina Vicarino rendered a group of Italian and English songs, and Signor Alberto Alfani gave an illustrated lecture on "The City of Florence." Signor Alfani is a collateral descendant of Dante, and is an authority on Florence.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, president of the society, presided and introduced the artists.

Count Marchetti, Charge d'Affaires of Italy, acted in the place of the Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, who is in Europe. Among the guests who attended the meeting was Signora Agresti, who came to Washington as the only woman delegate to the International Chamber of Commerce Congress, and is spending a short time in the Capital. Others there were: Mrs. Frederick A. Tilton, Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fitzhugh, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, Mrs. Hennen Jennings, Signor and Signora Monaco, parents of the Secretary of the Italian Embassy, who are visiting here; Mrs. Ralph Worthington, Mrs. Francis Newlands, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Dion Williams, Mrs. John Dana Baron and Baroness von Below and the Counselor of the Netherlands Legation, Mr. L. G. van Hoorn. Members of the embassy staff assisted in receiving the guests.

Col. and Mrs. Matthew A. DeLaney, who have spent several months in Washington at the Hotel Martinique, will leave this week for Col. DeLaney's new station at Fort Hayes, Ohio. For the past four years he has been the medical adviser to the Governor of the Philippine Islands.

Mrs. Henry S. Redmond, of New York, arrived yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville on their yacht Hi-Esmaro and entertained at luncheon at the Mayflower. Her guests, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Manville, were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Colby, Col. and Mrs. F. L. V. Hoppin, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan and Mr. Franklin A. Plummer, who are also cruising on the yacht bound for Southern waters.

Maj. and Mrs. Howard Davidson will move next month to Cremona, the old St. Marys County, Md., estate, which they recently purchased. Maj. and Mrs. Davidson have restored the house to its former architectural character.

Audrey Barret To Make Curtsy Before Royalty

Mrs. Dill, Miss Jahncke Also to Be Presented at St. James.

Busy preparing for a season in London is Miss Audrey Barret, daughter of Mr and Mrs Cecil Barret of New York, Baltimore and Washington, who will be presented to the king and queen at the second of the four drawing rooms at Buckingham Palace, May 20. The season at the British capital, the most brilliant at present in the world, is just beginning and will continue until the end of July, with the three other drawing room set for May 19, June 9 and 10.

Although Miss Barret, attractive granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Gittings, of Baltimore, was not presented to Capital society this winter, as had been originally planned, she spent several months here about a year ago with her family, who were established in a house on Massachusetts avenue. In fact, the Barrets need no introduction to smart circles in Washington, having been connected here over a period of many years.

A niece of Lady Bagot, of England, formerly Miss Lily May, of Baltimore, Miss Barret's affiliation with London society is already well established, and she has, incidentally, inherited the beauty for which her family is noted.

Following the dictates of the court, she will wear a ball gown with a court train, and a short veil caught with three white feathers, and will carry a fan or a bouquet. Made of pale blue satin, the gown is embroidered with silver and pearls, with a long train of ciel blue tulle, also trimmed with pearls and silver.

The presentations will be made by Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the United States Ambassador. Her adopted daughter, Miss Virginia Dawes, will be presented at the first court next Tuesday.

The first group will also include Miss Adele Jahncke, daughter of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, and a bud of this season in Washington. Having returned from her home in New Orleans last week, she sailed with her mother for Europe after spending a day in the Capital.

Mrs. Clarence C. Dill, wife of Senator Dill, will be among the American women to make their bow May 20.

Presentation at the British court is a delightful, exciting, nerve-racking and very expensive performance. One has to learn to curtsy three times in succession, sinking almost to the floor without falling, to rise with dignity, to walk backward with the grace of going forward, and to do all as quickly as possible, without being in a hurry.

Miss Leslie Wright, daughter of Mrs. Hamilton Wright, who has been at school in England, arrived in New York last week and has come to Washington to join her mother for the remainder of the season. A sister of Miss Barbara Wright, who has been in Washington for two winters, Miss Leslie Wright, is listed as a debutante of next year.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol have as their guest the latter's sister, Mrs. Henry Goldthwaite, who will be with them until next Monday. Dr. Goldthwaite is with the Public Health Service in Panama.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Merriette W. Ireland are planning to sail the first week in June for Europe, to pass some time. Gen. Ireland will be retired on May 31, and soon after they will leave Washington and sail from New York. They will take a car with them and tour in Europe.

George A. Hastings Is New Hoover Aid

Former Newspaper Man to Supervise Child Health Work.

President Hoover has added another former newspaperman to his staff. He is George A. Hastings, of New York City, who, according to an announcement at the White House yesterday, has been selected ot fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of French Strothers.

Mr. Strothers, who did research work at the White House, has been classified as "administrative assistant" to the President. Mr. Hastings will be listed as an "executive clerk." His job wil be to do research work and to look after child health activities and social agencies in which the President is interested. Some of the work which Mr. Strother has done—acting as liaison between magazine writers and the President, for example—will be taken over by Secretary Thedore Joslin.

Born in 1885, Mr. White was graduated from Syracuse University in 1906. He has worked on several newspapers in upstate New York, and for the last fifteen years has been the executive in charge of the State Charities Aid Association of New York. He also has lectured at Columbia University.

Hoover Asked to Put Lewis on Farm Board

(United Press.)

President Hover was asked yesterday by a committee of Florida, North Carolina and Virginia men to name Burdette G. Lewis to the Farm Board in order to give representation to the southeastern states. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Dem., Fla., and Rep. Ruth Bryan Owen, Dem., Fla., presented the committee, which outlined formally to the President a request for a program of crop diversification, cooperative marketing and better credit facilities in their section.

Agriculture in the southeastern states is passing through a very serious situation, the committee told the President, asserting that this year's crop in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, for instance, sold for $90,000,000 less than last year's.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

If the formal acceptances returned to George Morris, in charge of the details of the official premiere presentation of "Dirigible," at the Metropolitan Theater tomorrow night at 8:30, can be accepted at their face value, the invitational screening will be viewed by one of the most distinguished audiences of Washington's theatrical year.

In addition to a large representation of the ranking officers of both the Navy and the Army, practically the entire personnel of the President's Cabinet will be present as well as a majority of the members of the Diplomatic Corps. Added to this notable assemblage—which it is conservatively estimated will considerably more than fill the orchestra floor of the theater—will be leaders of the society and professional groups resident in the Capital and the local press.

A long visit with Frank Braden, formerly a commissioned officer in the regular Army of the United States but now one of Dexter Fellowes' associates in the agreeable task of heralding the advent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey "Greatest Show on Earth," has served to emphasize the fact that there are always new and outstanding foreign features in the program of this mighty circus, just now playing its first week under canvas in Brooklyn, but due here for a two-day stand next Monday and Tuesday.

First in featured importance this year among the many unusual attractions imported from the other side is the Orland-Mara sensation. In this tremendously exciting display of reckless daring, Orland gambles with death by diving from a great height up in the peak of the big top with Miss Mara clinging to his back to land upon his chest on a toboggan chute far below.

The exact method of performing this hazardous feat is a little too much for a nontechnical mind to expound, but its performance may be contemplated in the full assurance that if you think adagio dancing is risky business you ain't seen nothing yet! If Mr. Orland ever misses that chute they'll probably wonder what that is popping out of the ground down in China.

Probably no Washington theater has ever undergone so complete a metamorphosis—externally, at least—as that now being revealed by the old Ford Theater, in which Lincoln was assassinated down on Tenth street between E and F. In no time at all a large corps of artisans have transformed the ancient structure from a drab relic of an earlier era into a fresh and modern edifice that wholly belies its antiquity. Or had you noticed?

About this Jean Harlow. From many sides I am being bombarded with queries as to why I do not join the multitude and point out what a terrible actress I think the platinum blonde really is.

As a matter of fact, I recall having seen Miss Harlow only twice when any acting was required of her—once in "Hell's Angels" and more recently in the trial scene in "The Secret Six."

You can't ask for any more accurate index to my benightedness than that I thought she did well enough in both instances.

The presentation this week of "The Royal Family" by the National Theater Players recalls to mind that Ina Claire, the Washington actress who appeared in the talking screen version of the Kaufman-Ferber comedy, is expected to return to the stage next fall in the John Emerson-Anita Loos comedy, "Cherries Are Ripe," in which Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque have been playing on the road, at one time almost reaching Washington. If Miss Claire adheres to her present purpose, "Cherries Are Ripe" will be sponsored by Arch Selwyn and the Erlanger Co.

Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger last night assumed the roles in "Private Lives," created and heretofore played by Gertrude Lawrence and Noel Coward. The piece will tour the country upon the conclusion of its eminently successful Broadway run.

The newly organized team of Louise Groody and Neville Fleeson is on the bill at the Palace Theater in New York this week. Mr. Fleeson almost played the Earle a few weeks ago, if you remember. In fact, he almost played the Earle, whether you remember or not!

And it didn't take any shark up in the Weather Bureau to predict this showery spell, either. Glen Echo Park opened Saturday!

There is another important item that was to have gone here, but for the life of me I can't remember what it was.

So what?

Boat for President's River Use Prepared

(Associated Press.)

The Navy is preparing a boat for President Hoover's personal use or that of his friends on short cruises on the Potomac.

It is a 50-foot motor boat, originally used on the battleship Arizona. The craft was turned in by that ship in 1929, and has been reengined, outfitted and completely overhauled for the President's use.

It will accomodate eight passengers and carry a crew of five. It is equipped with a galley, a small cabin, a canopied after deck, which has space for six chairs, a settee and a table.

The boat is now at Norfolk. It is to be brought to Washington early next week and based at the navy yard here.

Treasury Offers $100,000,000 Bills

Amount Will Bring Issues Since March 15 to $2,610,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mellon yesterday invited bids for $100,000,000 in Treasury bills to meet Government expenditures. The amount will bring securities issued by the Treasury since last March 15 to $2,610,000,000. The bills will be issued in two series, one for 60 days and the other for 91 days.

Meanwhile the belief persisted that the Treasury was preparing to announce a large issue of long-term bonds late this summer. No official, however, would comment.

The new issue will bring the short-term debt outstanding to about $3,300,000,000. It will be sold to the highest bidder on May 14 and be dated May 18. Four days later the Treasury must raise $154,000,000 to meet the maturity of Treasury bills on May 18.

With little more than six weeks remaining of the 1931 fiscal year, the Treasury on May 8 had a deficit of $936,342,392.

Indiana Democrat Hits Ramseyer Tariff Stand

(Associated Press.)

Criticism of Democrats by Representative Ramseyer, of Iowa, for advocating lower tariff rates was answered yesterday by Representative Greenwood, Indiana Democrat.

Greenwood referred to Ramseyer as "a fresh recruit in the ranks of those Republicans who are trying to keep intact the administration's albi wall against the woeful weight of the Hawley-Smoot tariff."

Police Kill Cab Striker Attempting to Burn Bus

Lima, Peru, May 11 (A.P.).—Police fired on a group of taxicab strikers here today as they tried to burn a bus carrying passengers. One striker was killed and three were injured.

The strike has spread to Callao where workers in other occupations have joined the movement. Steamship crews unloaded their own cargoes and the customs house was closed. Street cars and railroads also were affected.

Stimson Mourns Death Of Chicago Publisher

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson in a formal statement yesterday paid tribute to Walter A. Strong.

"The passing of Mr. Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, is a great loss," he said. "Mr. Strong was always interested in international affairs and under his direction the News has assisted greatly in disseminating knowledge of international relations."

PRICE OF SILVER PREDICTED AS CAMPAIGN ISSUE IN 1932

terest in silver now is not an effort to revive the old fight of Bryan for bimetalism, but the situation grows out of the depression, or the depression grew out of it, and Mr. Borah declares—for once in agreement with the Chamber of Commerce—that it is a question for governmental action. He has behind him at least ten silver-producing States of the West. He has the word of economists that it has much to do with continuing the depression, through curtailed purchasing capacity of silver-using countries. In all, it is a pile of political tinder of unknown possibilities, waiting for a modern "Coin" Harvey or a cross of gold speech.

Key facts in the silver situation, according to H. N. Lawrie, economist, formerly attached to the Senate commission of gold and silver inquiry, include these:

Half the world's population, chiefly in China and India, have used silver currency for centuries.

In 1920 silver was $1.40 per ounce. In 1929 had dropped to 53.3 cents. December 30 last it was 30.75. (New York bar silver yesterday was 28 cents.)

Silver reserves in India have shrunk since 1929 from a gold value of $2,665,000,000 to $1,537,500,000, a decline of more than $1,000,000,000, more than 42 per cent.

Silver reserves in China have also shrunk 42 per cent during the depression, a decline of $677,000,000.

With those key facts, it is easy to see what has happened. The Chinese who want to buy kerosene or cotton must add 42 cents to every dollar on his bill.

Or, as Mr. Borah puts it, "You can not by the act of governments destroy by half the purchasing power of nearly one-half the human family without the whole of the human family feeling its stupendous and crushing effect. If you increase the debts of these millions by half and reduce the purchasing power by half, you have conceived and put into execution the most brutal and cruel system for impoverishment, for the spread of hunger and want and disease that it is possible to conceive of outside of war itself."

The root of the trouble, including the governmental actions to which Mr. Borah apparently refers, is summarized in a Senate foreign relations subcommittee report as being due to the "dumping" upon world markets large quantities of silver derived from melting up of silver coins in India and the debasement of silver coins in Great Britain, France and Belgium. Britain began a few years ago a gigantic attempt to change India to a gold standard country.

One important feature of the situation is revealed in the committee report, as follows:

"The women of India and most Asiatic countries are not permitted to inherit property. Therefore, a custom has long existed for the women to accumulate, over long perods of time, silver coins, and then melt them up and manufacture them into jewelry. This silver jewelry is the measure of their wealth and purchasing power; it is their reserve, their bank account."

Now, perhaps the widow in India wishes to buy some cotton cloth, but when she finds it takes almost twice as much of her silver as she would have had to pay two years ago, she probably decides to wear the old dress a while longer. And so we have the Western States unable to sell their silver at cost and Western senators are ready, as they were in the nineties, to do something about it.

Woman and Girl Hurt As Car, Truck Crash

A woman and a 2-year-old girl were bruised yesterday when their automobile figured in a collision with a truck on Massachusetts avenue near Thirtieth street northwest. They were motoring with Horace D. Rowell, 1233 D street northeast.

Mrs. Thomas Mann, 50 Quincy place northeast, and Phyllis Rowell, of the D street address, were treated at Georgetown Hospital for bruises. According to police, the truck was operated by Nathaniel Green, colored employe of a downtown department store.

STUDIES ON NOISE.

ARE you made unhappy by loud speakers assailing your ears as you walk along the street? If so, don't be downhearted. There is hope. New York City has amended the sanitary code so as to prevent this nuisance. The radio stores are obeying the law. They are grateful that competition does not force them to do something they did not want to do. It is hoped this type of legislation will spread like an epidemic. Possibly loud speakers will not be used hereafter in political contests.

The movement to control noise is spreading. In Los Angeles they put up structural steel buildings without using the noisy riveter. Other cities on both coasts are following suit. In New York City they commenced installing noiseless turnstiles after accurate measurements showed that turnstiles make a tiger's snarl sound like a zephyr.

These drives to control noise are not wild outbursts of senseless emotion. They are thought-out plans based on scientific investigation and accumulated facts. Colgate University is studying the effect of noise on the efficiency of workers and they report progress from time to time. Columbia University is studying the effect of noise on metabolism. Bellevue Hospital is studying the effect of noise on blood and brain pressure and heart rhythm. A New York group is studying the effect on hearing. McGill University is studying the same question.

The investigation of facts is being done with scientific precision. An apparatus for measuring noise is being used. It is compared with the yardstick, the pound weight, and the pint measure. This apparatus, mounted in an automobile body, travels from place to place, making measurements of street noises at different hours and in different circumstances.

It is carried to places where different noisy manufacturing methods are used and it compares the noise of each. The records show the noise of riveting, in comparison with locomotive whistling, pile driving and lion roaring. In England, somewhat similar studies are being made.

All these studies are being used as a basis for what is being done. Incidentally, any official of any city or town, or any manufacturer interested in local conditions, can get one of these new fangled yardsticks, and use it to determine how noisy his place is and use it to change conditions.

LOOK FOR DRY PLACE.

C. S. writes: I am planning to go to California to live. I am suffering with asthma and general catarrh of the head. Could you tell me what part of California would be best for me? I know Arizona would be better, but I have some personal reasons for wanting to locate in California.

REPLY.

Assuming your trouble be limited to so-called catarrh (probably antrum infection) and a secondary asthma, locate in some dry place in southern California. Probably Imperial Valley would be best. Around Barstow should be good. So should Fresno and the valleys of that section. Locate east of the coast mountains.

LAWYERS MAP FIGHT FOR CROWLEY TRIAL

District Attorney Hopes to Bring Killer in Court Next Monday.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Attorneys appointed by the courts began today to map out the campaigns the law requires them to make to save Francis Crowley and Rudolph Duringer from the electric chair.

Although both young men have confessed the murders with which they are charged, and Crowley has expressed a desire to "get it over with quick," the New York State law will not permit a man to plead guilty to first degree murder, the penalty for which is death.

Crowley, it was said, wanted to plead guilty.

Duringer's trial, for the killing of Virginia Brannen, dance hall hostess, has been tentatively set in the Bronx for next Friday. District Attorney Edwards at Mineola, hopes to bring Crowley to trial next Monday, May 18, for the killing of Patrolman Hirsch at North Merrick less than a week ago.

Charles R. Weeks has been appointed to defend Crowley and Walter A. Lynch, a former New York City magistrate, today took over the defense of Duringer at the request of Justice Albert Cohn. Both trials may be postponed if defense counsel feel they have not had enough time to prepare their cases.

Mr. Weeks, at Mineola, said he was considering three courses: Self defense, based on a statement by Crowley that the policeman tried to shoot him, but the gun failed to go off; an insanity plea and a plea for a change of venue. He said he might have Crowley examined by Dr. Richard Hoffman, an alienist, and might ask for a change of venue because of the public feeling against Crowley in Nassau County.

Mr. Weeks said he had declined offers of help from the prosecution, who had said he might go through the State's files on the case. He was planning to have a talk with Mrs. Ann Crowley, the young killer's foster mother, tomorrow morning.

Bailey Wins Point In Senate Contest

Judge Vacates Order to Deputies to Impound Ballot Boxes.

Raleigh, N. C., May 11 (A.P.).—An order vacating his previous order which authorized his deputies to impound ballot boxes used in the contested Bailey-Pritchard senatorial election was signed this afternoon by Federal Judge Meekins.

The new order stated that the previous one signed May 14 was vacated on petition of counsel for both petitioners, the United States Senate subcommittee on elections and the State of North Carolina, which joined Senator J. M. Bailey in opposing the order.

The State contended at a hearing today that the court was without authority to sign such an order. The right of the State and its election officials to intervene in the contest, filed by George M. Pritchard, Republican, against the election of Bailey, a Democrat, was upheld in the order.

Mrs. Marion Converse Is Granted Separation

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Mrs. Marion Converse, wife of Converse M. Converse, grandson of the late Edward C. Mrs. Converse charged abandonment.

De Forest Wills Bulk Of Estate to Widow

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—The will of Robert W. De Forest, late president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, filed today, leaves his residuary estate, together with his personal property and $250,000, to his widow.

Ship Crew Routed By 18-Foot Python

Reptile Recaged Finally by Snake Expert; Zoo Cargo Arrives.

Boston, May 11 (A.P.).—An 18-foot python at liberty on the deck of a storm-tossed steamer—such was the story brought here today by the British freighter City of Christiania, out of Calcutta. The steamer also brought a large consignment of monkeys and a variety of other wild animals, birds and reptiles from the jungles of India. Many "passengers" on the modern Noah's Ark died during the rough passage.

The steamer was in midocean, beset by heavy seas and strong winds, when the crate containing the python was broken open by motion of the vessel. The reptile crawled out and up to the poop deck as members of the steamer's Lascar crew fled in fright—all except S. B. Khan, who has a reputation even in his native India as a snake expert.

Mr. Khan grabbed the big reptile by head and tail and dragged it off to a reinforced packing case. The shipment was consigned to an animal farm at Nashua, N. H., for later distribuion to zoos throughout the country.

Girl Slavery Tale Told to Commons

Children Virtually Sold in Hongkong Colony, Speaker Says.

London, May 11 (A.P.).—Sir John Simon today drew the attention of the House of Commons to conditions under which he said thousands of little girls are sold into virtual slavery in the British colony of Hongkong.

Simon asserted that under the "Mui-tsai system" girls were in homes other than their own and were rendering services under arrangements with which they had nothing to do. He charged this system operated under conditions which sometimes led to most deplorable circumstances of cruelty.

Sir John said the description of the situation by the colonial secretary, Lord Passfield, who called it "a Chinese system of adoption of young girls," was wholly inaccurate. Cries of "Shame" came from all over the house when Simon quoted from a bill of sale to give facts about the sale of a 9-year-old girl for $100 in Hongkong currency.

10 Injured, Houses Damaged by Quake

Wide Area in Italy Again Suffers; Noted Melfi Chapel Escapes.

Melfi, Italy, May 11 (A.P.).—Ten persons were injured and hundreds of houses damaged here yesterday as the result of an earthquake which was felt over a wide area corresponding roughly to the district devastated in the same manner last summer.

Another shock was felt this afternoon, but aside from adding to the panic of the populace it caused no damage. Yesterday's shocks were also felt at Varile, Rapolla, Rionero, Asilia, Escopano, Sangervasio and Pinazola.

The famous chapel of Melfi, built by Emperor Frederick II in the thirteenth century and partly wrecked in last years' quake, was not harmed. Shockproof buildings constructed by the government after the catastrophe also were unscathed.

The injuries were caused by a crowd of worshippers attempting to flee from the church at the time of the shocks. Inasmuch as the main door has been closed since last summer, they crowded through a small temporary exit and some of them were trampled.

CAREFUL INSPECTION STILLS SCHOOL FEAR

McKinley Building Is Found Perfectly Safe, Oehmann Report Says.

The supporting framework of the McKinley High School was found to be in perfectly safe condition yesterday during a three-hour minute inspection by Col. John W. Oehmann, District building inspector, and four of his assistants.

Heron Todd, steel erection subcontractor on the Roosevelt Junior High School, was not present in person, nor was he represented at the inspection, despite the fact that he had been particularly invited following a cursory examination by District officials after the contractor had charged that the building was unsafe.

No evidence of sagging of beams nor of columns out of line was found, Col. Oehmann said, and the greatest difference that could be ascertained with precise instruments in steel beam levels was half an inch. This might well have been existent when the structure was erected, he said, and was no indication of sagging.

One supporting column was found to have been drawn inward slightly to connect with a long beam, but that also was done during construction and was no sign of structural weakening.

Col. Oehmann will make his detailed report today to Maj John C Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, who ordered the inspection after Mr Todd's charges had been published.

Bicentennial Body To Fill Post Soon

Associate Director May Not Be Resident of City of Washington.

It is extremely likely that the District's associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission will not be a resident of Washington.

Two candidates are under consideration, it was learned yesterday, and they are on their way to Washington for a conference with members of the executive committee, which is to name the associate director.

Choices for candidates have simmered down to these two, whose names were not revealed, and a final choice will not be made until they have had personal interviews with members of the committee. The director will be named within a week, it is believed.

7,000 Bandits Slain By Troops of China

Government Scours Area of 200 Miles Square; Faces New Revolt.

Nanking, China, May 11 (A.P.)—The Nationalist government, which announced tonight its troops had killed 7,000 bandits in central provinces, apparently was preparing to send an army against incipient rebellion in South China.

The bandits were killed in the last two weeks by troops operating over a 200-square mile area along the borders of Honan, Hupeh and Anhwei Provinces. Eight hundred of them were captured, the number including 100 women. The statement said the government lost 1,000 soldiers.

The campaign followed months of communistic and brigand outrages on a large scale along the Yangtze River. Numerous towns have been looted and burned and their populations massacred. Foreign shipping has been frequently fired upon. The situation in Kwangtung and Kwangsi Provinces of South China admittedly is giving the government grave concern, although officials have been guarded in statements concerning their intentions in dealing with the demands of Chen Chitang, military governor of Kwangtun, and other leaders that Chiang Kaishek retire from the presidency of the central government here.

We have a limited number of good instruments we want to place in responsible homes where we may be assured members of the family will be interested in purchasing providing they are successful in learning to play the piano through the newly improved method of teaching which makes piano playing easy.

The entire expense is merely the cost of drayage. The use of the piano, including lessons, we offer absolutely free in the interest of musical self-expression.

CHEAP CUTS OF MEAT IMPROVED BY USING SUGAR

Sugar Blends Deliciously with Meat Juices and Seasonings

One of the most inexpensive meat stews to make is the famous Mexican dish—Chili Con Carne. The recipe, which is very simple, follows:

Slice fine, two onions and cook slowly in four tablespoons of fat in a covered kettle until soft—not brown. Then add one and one-half pounds round steak or cheaper beef cut in small cubes and cook until the meat starts to fry. Stir in one to three tablespoons Chili powder, mixed in a little water, one teaspoon salt and two teaspoons sugar. Next add one quart hot water and one-half cup tomato puree or juice. Simmer until meat is very tender and the stew is of a thick consistency. Serve with potatoes, rice, corn or hominy and a salad. This meal topped with a sweet dessert is most satisfying and properly balanced.

Sugar can be similarly used when you stew, braise or pot-roast cheap cuts of beef or lamb; and a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt noticeably improves the flavor of vegetables. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

EDWIN PARKER WINS INSURANCE HONORS

Mutual Life Here Presents Him With Badge; Friends Give 17 Policies' Fees.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Completing 20 years' successful service as a local salesman of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., Edwin P. Parker was presented with the company's badge for veteran employes as a testimonial luncheon given by the Washington office yesterday at the Hamilton Hotel.

The feature of the celebration, planned as a surprise for Mr. Parker, was the additional presentation of seventeen policies with a total valuation of more than $120,000, sold for him by members of the Washington office, and on which he will receive the full commission.

The policies, ranging from $1,000 to $50,000, were delivered to Mr. Parker by L. E. Jeffries, vice president and counsel of the Southern Railway, Mr. Jeffries and S. Parker Gilbert, of J. P. Morgan & Co., former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and allied reparations commissioner, hold the two largest. The policies were accompanied by a suitably bound and engraved letter expressing the well wishes of the policy-holders, the agents who sold them and bearing their signatures.

Family Hears Praise.'

In the presence of his family and fellow workers Mr. Parker heard the praise of his company, friends and profession. This was conveyed to him in the form of congratulatory messages from John R. Hardin, company president, and Dr. Harry M. Kaufman, its local medical examiner, and in speeches by Dwight T. Scott, representing the local agents, John H. Snyder, president of the District of Columbia Life Underwriters Association; Mr. Jeffries, for the policyholders; Dr. William R. Ward, national medical director, for the company, and H. Lawrence Choate, local general agent, representing the Washington office and presiding at the luncheon.

After describing the great part life insurance has played and will play in the economic history of the country and voicing his company's appreciation of Mr. Parker's work, Dr. Ward gave him a gold badge bearing the letter V in pearls, which is the company's award to its veterans of 20 years' service.

In delivering the policies sold unawares to Mr. Parker by his office associates, Mr. Jeffries described him as the possessor of the virtues that make a man truly great, loyalty, courage and honesty. From Mr. Snyder, 30 years with the Mutual Benefit Company and Mr. Parker's only senior in service with the local office, he received the compliments of the company's veterans' club and the life underwriters association.

Response Closes Meeting.

Mr. Parker's response closed the meeting. Born in Portsmouth, Va., 75 years ago, after engaging in the retail stationery business, he entered the life insurance field 35 years ago, coming to Washington in 1900. He and Mr. Snyder are the only remaining members of the local office staff at the time when he joined it. In his life, he has seen his company's assets expand from $157,000,000 to $500,000,000. Brief, grateful and graceful was his acknowledgement of the kindness and honors of his employers, workers and friends. Its most stirring sentence was, "I have done my best."

Waggaman, Brawner & Co., Inc., and D. H. McKnew & Co., Inc., are offering ABC Trust Shares, Series "E", which is one of the short-term fixed trusts which have been popular in the recent depressed market.

The portfolio consists of 35 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange and which have been selected for soundness, diversification and enhancement of principal. A unique feature of the trust is that stocks in the portfolio must be sold out and the proceeds distributed to holders when the stocks have shown an enhancement in value of 150 per cent over the closing price of December 31, 1930. The Empire Trust Co., of New York, is trustee for these shares.

Call Money Rate Lowest Since 1908

New York Loans Renewed at 1 Per Cent; Highest 125 in 1907.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—For the first time since September 9, 1908, call money renewed at 1 per cent today at the New York Stock Exchange loaning desk.

The renewal rate, which is the interest charged on previously contracted brokers' borrowings, reflects conditions in the short term money market, and today's extremely low figure was an aftermath of the recent cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate to 1½ per cent. With a few interruptions caused by temporary and minor stringency due to seasonal influences, the stock exchange renewal rate has been 1½ per cent for some time.

The highest call money rate since the establishment of the Federal Reserve system was 30 per cent on November 12, 1919, but the record is the 125 per cent that appeared in October, 1907, during the "money panic," when bankers organized an emergency money pool.

New York Central Net Totals $7,337,298

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—The New York Central Railroad Co. reported today its net railway operating income in the first quarter of 1931 amounted to $7,337,298, against $14,455,668 in the March quarter of 1930.

The March quarter net operating income of other roads reporting today with comparative figures for 1930:

	1931	1930
Pittsburgh & Lake Erie	$974,456	1,530,047
Indiana Harbor Belt	385,707	506,415

General Motors Sales Increase During April

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Domestic and foreign sales of the General Motors Corporation to dealers during April aggregated 154,252 automobiles, compared with 150,661 in April, 1930. The total sales for March were 119,195 cars.

Dealers in General Motors cars in the United States during April sold 135,663 cars to consumers, an increase of 34 per cent over deliveries during March, which totaled 101,339. In April last year the dealers sold 142,004 cars to consumers, an increase of 15 per cent over the March, 1930, total of 123,781 cars. Sales to dealers in April amounted to 132,629 automobiles, compared with 132,365 last year.

Deposit Interest Rate Unchanged by Banks

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—The clearing house committee of the New York Clearing House took no action at its meeting today on the maximum interest rates which that organization permits its members to pay on deposits.

Since the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reduced its rediscount rate to 1½ per cent last week, the lowest rate on record, it has been expected in Wall street the rates would be reduced. The present maximum rates are 1 per cent on commercial deposits and those of banks, trust companies and private bankers, and 1½ per cent on balances of savings banks, on demand deposits and certificates of deposit payable within 30 days, and 1½ per cent on time deposits maturing after 30 days but within six months. They were voted on February 6. It has been expected that the several classes of maximum rates would be reduced one-half of 1 per cent.

Paramount-Publix Cuts Dividend on Common

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Directors of Paramount-Publix Corporation today reduced the annual dividend rate on the common stock to $2.50, from $4, by declaring a quarterly dividend of 62½ cents, payable June 27 to stockholders of record June 5. The $4 annual rate was established in March, 1930, when it was increased from $3.

The dividend declared today is the fiftieth consecutive dividend of the company. Adolph Zukor, president, said in a statement that the directors believed their action "prudent and in the best interests of the stockholders," in view of general business conditions.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

George Washington Bicentennial, 1932

Wednesday, May 6, 1931.

Mr. Robert C. Lester,
Associated Bakery Unions,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Lester:

Your campaign in the interest of "Union-Made Washington Bread" is, in my opinion, one of the most commendable actions ever undertaken by a local organization in the interests of Washington business and the welfare of our people.

I am heartily in accord with every effort being made to impress upon Washington citizens the utter necessity of spending their money with local concerns, if we are to effect an early return of prosperity. In the present bread situation we need the whole-hearted approval and staunch support of every man, woman and child.

I am confident that you have the full support of every one of the more than sixty organizations comprising the Federation of Citizens' Associations, and we wish you the utmost success.

In closing I wish to thank you for bringing the matter to my attention, and to assure you that you have my permission to use this letter in any way you feel will be of service to your cause.

Very truly yours,

B. A. BOWLES,
Vice President, Federation of Citizens' Associations.

"I am heartily in accord with every effort being made to impress upon Washington citizens the utter necessity of spending their money with local concerns if we are to effect an early return to prosperity. In the present bread situation we need the whole-hearted approval and staunch support of very man, woman and child."

Indeed do we need their support! For upon the shoulders of every one of us rests a portion of the responsibility of supporting local industry, which in turn determines the economic condition of our city. Hundreds of dollars go out of Washington daily ...spent by Washingtonians for bread, cakes, buns, rolls and pastries shipped here from out-of-town bakeries. THESE DOLLARS ARE GONE FOR GOOD...THEY DO NOT RETURN! NO WASHINGTON CITIZEN OR BUSINESS BENEFITS FROM THEIR CIRCULATION!

LOOK FOR THE BAKERY ADDRESS!

On the wrapper of every loaf of bread sold in Washington is a small label giving the name AND ADDRESS of the bakery that made it. LOOK FOR THAT LABEL. Make sure it is the name and address of a Washington bakery. Then you not only know you are sending your money into channels that will benefit every one, but you also KNOW you are buying SAFE BREAD. Bakery products made in local bakeries under the direct supervision of our local Health Department are always fresh, pure and wholesome. INSIST upon local products . . . no matter in WHAT store you shop!

STOCK PRICES DRAG IN IRREGULAR WAVES

Professional Trading Noted in Day's Turnover of 1,700,000 Shares.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Stocks dragged up and down unenthusiastically today. Professional traders accounted for a large part of the 1,700,000-share turnover, giving the market a dip in the morning and again during the last hour.

Between those two intervals prices managed to rally, paying little attention to sustained weakness in a few individual issues. Net changes were narrow and irregular.

Wheat, corn and cotton closed lower, but losses were meager.

The money market contributed most of the day's news. Call loans on the stock exchange renewed at 1 per cent, the lowest rate in nearly 23 years, and as a result there was some withdrawal of funds by lenders to whom the extremely low yield did not appeal. Time money rates were also reduced. There was little or no activity in bankers' acceptances.

Weak Stocks Recover.

Early selling of stocks was directed against two recent weak spots, Johns-Manville and J. I. Case, and also against Union Carbide and Fox Film, the first two, after touching new lows, made more than full recovery, but the latter pair remained soft. The annual stockholders' meeting of the Fox company, previously postponed, will be held on Friday when a decision will presumably be reached on the system of accounting to be adopted.

U. S. Steel dipped to 110¼, within a fraction of last week's low, but then rebounded to 113½ in the afternoon rally. It finished a point from the top, up ¾ net. Professionals switched to General Electric in the last hour and succeeded in breaking that issue 2¾, although the loss was reduced to less than 2 points in late covering. American Can also staged in the final dealings.

There were fractional net gains in Radio, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Gas, Sears Roebuck and others. Western Union made a new low before rallying with the other utilities. Rails were highly mixed, Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Lackawanna reaching new minimums. Pennsylvania was heavy. Southern Pacific and Atchison firmed. Gillette was strong and Auburn held 14 points of an extreme rise of 17. Union Carbide lost more than 2.

Dividend Cut Foreshadowed.

Reduction of the Paramount dividend had been foreshadowed in the recent weakness of that stock, which rallied a point today. The directors met after the close.

Wall street is reconciled to the indications of a dull summer both in business and on the stock exchange, and is paying considerable attention to the action of the bond market. The old theory is that little can be expected from the stocks until second grade fixed-income obligations have had a rise, hence these sections of the bond list will be watched closely. The crop prospects are also assuming a more important place in the news, for summer and fall trade depend in large measure on the grain and cotton harvests.

Wheat futures sagged ½ to ¾ of a cent net on reports of moisture in the northwest and a decreased export demand. Corn closed unchanged to half a cent lower. Selling was prompted by beneficial rains in the Central West and larger country offerings. Cotton lost 9 to 12 points net.

Foreign currencies moved narrowly. The Spanish peseta broke badly, reflecting the disturbances in Madrid. The French franc rallied slightly and there was substantial recovery in the Brazilian milreis.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—An early decline in cotton under realizing and scattered selling inspired by relatively easy cables was followed by partial recoveries today.

Early offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering and after selling off to 9.90 for July contracts or 22 points net lower, prices stiffened up in sympathy with rallies in the stock market, while there may have been little buying on the outlook for light frost in northern parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas. July closed at 10.00 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 9 to 12 points.

The opening was steady 11 to 14 points lower in response to the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, reports of slightly warmer weather in the Eastern belt, the moderate decline in the stock market and bearish features in the standard cloth statistics for April. The decline seemed to bring in considerable trade buying to fix prices and some covering but the demand was quite readily supplied and prices worked lower before the end of the morning with October selling off to 10.28 and December to 10.48 making net losses of 20 to 22 points on the more active positions.

Trading in May was very quiet, only a few sales being reported, but the price sagged off to 9.77 or a net decline of 17 points. The selling then tapered off as influenced by reports of rallies in the stock market and the forecast for light frosts in some sections of the Western belt. Buying was not active, but offerings were light after the early selling had run its course and some positions reached the highest prices of the day in the late trading. May sold only from 9.82 and October to 9.40, making recoveries of about 14 points from the lowest, and while this burst was not fully maintained, prices held steady in the late trading.

The standard cloth statistics for April indicated that sales for the month had been 60 per cent of production with an increase of 3 per cent in stocks on hand and a decrease of 21.3 per cent in unfilled orders. These figures did not appear to be much out of line with expectations but were mentioned in connection with the early decline, which appeared to be chiefly influenced by the better Eastern belt weather and easier cables.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation in that market. Exports today, 11,006, making 6,156,359 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,333. U. S. port stocks, 3,411,399.

BOND PRICES GAIN WITH SLOW TRADING

Gilt-Edge Issues Record Upward Movement; Rails Close Higher.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Bonds made further gains today, but the advance was not so regular as last week and trading was less active.

The upward movement was most marked among highly rated gilt-edge railroad and public utility obligations. Atchison general 4s, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s, Pennsylvania gold 6½s and the series D 4½s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Louisville & Nashville unified 4s, Western Union 4½s of 1950 and the 5s of 1938, New York Telephone general 4½s, Philadelphia Electric 4s of 1971, Public Service Electric & Gas 5s of 1971 and the 4½s of 1967, New York Edison 6½s, American Telephone debenture 5s and Detroit Edison series D 4½s either reached new high prices for this year or equaled their old peak levels.

Further evidence of the demand for gilt-edge issues appeared in the advance in Liberty and United States Treasury obligations. The Treasury 3¾s of 1946-1956 gained ⅜ point, the largest gain of the group, which was not surprising, as the maturity of this issue is further off than that of other bonds of the group. The First Liberty 3½s, the Fourth Liberty 4¼s and the Treasury 3¾s of 1941-1943 reached new high levels for this year, while the rest of the group were within less than 1 point of their 1931 peaks.

As a whole, domestic corporate bonds were firm. Average prices of representative railroad, public utility and industrial issues all moved ahead.

Foreign obligations advanced irregularly. Weakness cropped out in Argentine bonds, which recovered part of their losses by the close, although private advices from Buenos Aires described conditions there as tranquil. Some Chilean issues lost ground also. Otherwise the majority of net changes in this group were gains.

NATS' BATTING BARRAGE NETS 14-4 WIN AT DETROIT

Cronin and Bluege Clout Homers in 18-Hit Attack Against 4 Tiger Hurlers

Fischer Goes Route, Yielding Only Seven Hits Until Ninth.

Bridges Pounded Out as Nats Compile Six Runs in First.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Making it two out of three over the Tigers in their first Western series of the season proved to be the easiest kind of a stunt for the Nationals here this afternoon. They turned in a 14-to-4 victory, jumping into an eight-run lead in the first two frames, adding to their total from time to time and simply coasting home. The triumph advanced the Nats to fourth place and put them only a game and one half below the leading Yankees.

Washington's attack was featured by home run drives by Joe Cronin and Ossie Bluege, each coming with a mate on the sacks and each clearing the barrier in left field. All told, 18 Nat hits were recorded with Sam West being the only one to go hitless. Spencer was credited with one and all of the others at least two. Bluege showed the way with four, adding a double and two singles to his four-bagger.

Carl Fischer, rookie southpaw, went the route for the Nats, while four Tiger pitchers—Tom Bridges, Charley Sullivan, "Chief" Elon Hogstett and Art "Kippered" Herring opposed him and all had their troubles. Except for wildness in two frames and a slight letting-down in the final, Carl would have had no troubles at all. He held the heavy-hitting Bengals to eleven hits, four of which came in the ninth.

Nats Practice on Tiger Pitchers.

Having been robbed of their usual pregame batting drill because the infield was kept covered until play started, the Nats proceeded to get in a little practice at the expense of the alien pitchers, and they pounded Bridges off the hill and made things unpleasant for Sullivan before the first frame ended. This round netted six juicy runs.

Myer singled, Sam Rice doubled, Alexander's first error gave Manush life and Cronin, Kuhel and Bluege hit one-basers before Bridges was removed with one out. Spencer doubled two home as his greeting to the relief before the Tigers could halt the Nat rampage.

In the second, the Nationals added two more to their total, while they increased it to ten in the fourth. A second error by Alexander and singles by Manush and Kuhel were responsible for the runs in the second session, while the other two came when Manush doubled and Cronin homered over the left field wall two rounds later.

Fischer Wobbles in Fifth Frame.

The Tigers broke the ice in their third, when two bases on balls, Koenig's single and Alexander's long fly, netted a run. Then they remained docile until the fifth. They scored but one run in this inning, but had Fischer on the verge of being yanked.

Johnson tripled to deep center as a starter and Owen immediately singled him home. Koenig walked, and, after Myer had made a nice catch of Alexander's near Texas Leaguer in short right center, Stone walked, filling the bases. The Nat pitcher then managed to put on the brakes, forcing McManus to foul to Spencer and Doljack to line to West.

Two more Washington runs were made in the sixth, these resulting from a walk, Bluege's double, Spencer's useful out, and a surprise two-bagger all the way to score board in left, off Fischer's bat, while another brace was recorded in the next frame when Bluege hit for the circuit after Kuhel had doubled.

Leading by a dozen runs entering the ninth, Fischer eased up slightly and then had trouble pulling himself together again. As a result the Tigers delayed the game long enough to tally two useless runs.

TRIBE FACES CROWDER TODAY

Nat Veteran Displays Improved Form in Daily Practice.

DETROIT, Mich., May 11.—Immediately after today's game the Nationals hustled for a train headed for Cleveland, where they were due to arrive late tonight. They open their second Western series of the season tomorrow with "General" Alvin Crowder drawing the pitching assignment. The veteran has started three games for the Nats and has taken three relief shifts, not looking good on any of these occasions.

Because of his disappointing work, Skipper Johnson told Crowder early last week that he would have to work himself into condition by pitching to his mates in pregame stick drills and he has toiled hard and often since.

Crowder's fast ball has lacked its usual hop, while his curve did not break quite sharply enough. Steady improvement has been noted since Crowder has been working almost daily in practice, and both he and his manager believe that he is about ready. Whether or not they are right will be known on the morrow. The Tribe is only half a game ahead of the Nats.

No Pregame Drill for Either Team.

Because of dark skies overhead, the infield was kept covered until shortly before game time today. Thus for the second straight afternoon neither the Nats nor the Tigers were able to get in any batting practice.

Charley Gehringer, injured Tiger second-base star, celebrated his twenty-eighth birthday today.

Shortstop Owen went far into left field and close to the foul line to rob Fischer of a seventh Washington hit in the first inning.

After walking Owen in the native first, Fischer settled down and fanned both Koenig and Alexander, the latter watching a half-speed curve ball pass him for a third strike.

One of the Nats' runs coined in the first and the two manufactured in the second were unearned, thanks to errors in each frame charged to Alexander.

Fischer fanned Schang on three successive strikes in the alien second to end the frame, after Doljack had doubled with two gone. Fischer did

Episcopal High Third In Princeton Net Play

Princeton, N. J., May 11 (A.P.).—Hill School walked away with the honors in the Princeton interscholastic tennis tournament today. Hill not only won the team title, but furnished the individual champion and runner-up as well.

Hebard, of Hill, runner-up a year ago, won the individual title by defeating his teammate, Stewart, 6—3, 6—1. He also won the team title with 9 points. Choate was second with 5 and Episcopal High, of Alexandria, Va., third with 4.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

OLD MOTHER EARTH is usually credited with but 365 revolutions a year, but even if we only counted the additonal one-quarter revolution, which in four years accounts for leap year, the 365 figure would not be correct.

There is another revolution, and the main one at that, which is seldom counted. This is the revolution that the earth makes around the sun each year.

This makes 366¼ revolutions that the earth makes in a year, but there is another yet. The Greenwich meridian, starting at noon on January 1, is directly opposite the sun at noon of each day during the earth's trip around the sun. In order to accomplish this, the earth has to keep changing. When the circle is one-fourth completed, the earth has made an extra quarter-turn, or the Greenwich meridian could not face the sun. When the circle is half completed, Greenwich has made a half-turn. When the trip around the sun is completed, the earth has turned all the way around, so that the Greenwich meridian is now again at the same position in which it was at the beginning.

Thus, in one year the earth has made 367¼ revolutions.

Tortoise shell used in the making of tortoise shell rims for glasses comes from the large scales of the shield of the Caretta Imbricata, a species of sea turtle. These turtles were erroneously termed tortoises when very little was known of the species.

POOLE HURLS 2-HIT GAME FOR G. U.

Providence Shutout, 8 to 0; Evers Leads Hilltop Attack.

Special to The Washington Post.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 11.—Harold Poole, a Providence boy, pitched Georgetown to an 8 to 0 victory over Providence College here this afternoon. Poole allowed but two hits and struck out five. He hit one batter and walked two. Only five Providence College men reached first and all were left there.

Poole's performance was all the more notable because of the fact that he pitched a full game Saturday against Holy Cross and had but one day of rest between games.

Georgetown drew blood in the second, pushing over two runs on a double and two singles. In the fourth they rushed over three more, driving Connors out of the box on a double, a hit batsman and two singles.

Blanche Goes Well Until Ninth.

Blanche, who relieved him, went along well until the ninth when two infield errors by Reilley, substitute shortstop, and two singles brought in three more runs.

Evers, with three singles, and Bozek, with a triple and single, were Georgetown's timeliest batters. Poole was accorded faultless support. Before the game, Poole and Wholey, another Providence youth, were presented traveling bags by the Georgetown Alumni Club of Rhode Island.

Pirates Pound Vance In Fourth to Win, 4-2

Brooklyn, May 11 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates bumped Dazzy Vance for four solid singles and a sacrifice in the fourth inning to score three runs and take their second straight from the Brooklyn Robins, 4 to 2.

Heine Meine limited the losers to five hits, three of which were bunched in the fourth for both of Brooklyn's runs. A triple by Lefty O'Doul and a double by Lopez featured the inning.

Loose play behind Vance helped the Pirates score in the first inning.

CARD STREAK BROKEN BY PHILS, 2-1

Collins Holds St. Louis Safe; Klein Stars With Homer.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (A.P.).—After winning eight straight games the league leading Cardinals were beaten by the Phils here this afternoon, 2 to 1. Phil Collins was the master of the visitors throughout and won his second game of the year.

The Phillies won the game in the sixth inning when Klein's sixth homer wiped out a 1 to 0 lead and Mallon doubled to left with Arlett on second pushing across the winning tally.

The Cards scored their one run in the third on a triple by Orsatti and a double by Frisch. Pepper Martin, center fielder of the league leaders, was spiked by Hurst in the fourth inning and was forced to retire from the game. Hallahan opposed the locals for the first six frames before being relieved by a pinch hitter.

Pitt Seeking Fourth Title In Tourney

300 Start Qualifying in Chevy Chase Play Today.

Marston and Corkran Among Favorites in Star Field.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE Chevy Chase golf course seems to have been made to order for Harry G. Pitt, of the Manor Club. For three successive years he has won the annual club invitation tournament and, although in the recent Washington and Woodmont events he did not score any signal victories, he played the Chevy Chase course yesterday in three over par. He was out in 35 and home in 37, for a total of 72, despite the fact that he played for more than an hour through a drenching May shower.

The Chevy Chase tournament, which begins this morning, with half of the field of over 300 entries participating today in an 18-hole qualifying round, with the remainder of the field playing an equal number of holes tomorrow, promises to be a worth-while contest.

Stevinson Runner-Up for Past 3 Years.

With Pitt endeavoring to defend his triple title and with Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, who won the event away back in 1924 and for the last three years runner-up to Pitt, also entered, there is a possibility that the final round may see a repetition of previous years. Stevinson was out for a practice round yesterday afternoon, but quit at the twelfth hole when the storm made golfing anything but a pleasant pastime.

The field this year, however, fairly bristles with good golfers. Among them is Max Marston, of Philadelphia, former national amateur champion, who will play at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning; B. Warren Corkran, many times winner of the Baltimore Country Club tournaments and one of the leading golfers in this section; Maj. Earl Naiden, former Army champion; George S. Lyon, eight times amateur champion of Canada, and many others. Lyon did not play a practice round yesterday, but when some one, not knowing that he had not played, casually asked him what he had got, he replied with a smile, "I got a good sleep." Lyon, who invariably comes to Washington to play in a Chevy Chase tournament, was runner-up in the first sixteen eight years ago.

Post Entries Received.

The first pair will start this morning at 7:55 o'clock, and there will be a steady procession from the first tee until 2:45 this afternoon. Tomorrow the initial pair starts at 8 o'clock and the last pair will tee off at 2:25. This pair will be F. J. Beger, captain of the Georgetown University Golf Team, and J. Monro Hunter, jr., who won the medal last week in the qualifying round of the Woodmont tournament. Post entries for the tourney, received yesterday, follow:

TODAY.

8:20 a. m., H. H. Burroughs (unattached) and J. A. Cox (Argyle); 9:45, R. M. Gray (Toronto) and W. W. Rapley (Chevy Chase); 10:20, F. Dibbs (unattached) and H. P. Cochran (Chevy Chase); 10:30, J. N. Nicholson (Washington); 2:50 p. m., Harmer Reeside (Chevy Chase) and A. M. Reeside (Chevy Chase); 3, O. H. DeMoll (Columbia) and J. P. Thompson (Columbia); 3:05, R. G. Shands (Chevy Chase) and R. B. Gwarthmey (Chevy Chase); 3:10, W. E. Clark (unattached) and Maurice Horton (unattached).

TOMORROW.

Holmes (Columbia) and Raymond Chatim (Columbia); 12:25 p. m., Arthur Ackley (Columbia) and Harris Fleming (Columbia); 12:55, P. W. Colman (Chevy Chase) and A. Mrs. Haynes Leads for Star Cup.

Notwithstanding frequent showers, 82 of the 92 women golfers scheduled to start in the Star Cup competition on the course of the Manor Club appeared and played a round of eighteen holes. The trophy will be awarded to the player with the low net score at the end of another eighteen holes this afternoon. Prizes will also be awarded for low gross and for second and third low net.

Mrs. J. M. Haynes, of Columbia, led the field with the low gross score yesterday, her card being 41—43—84, one stroke better than the 46—39—85

East's Derby Candidates On Scene

Preference for Track at Downs Favors Twenty Grand.

Rated at 5 to 2 With Mate; Pittsburgher Is West's Hope.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 11.—The horses prominent in the Preakness arrived here today and were unloaded at the central station and led to their quarters at Churchill Downs. Included in the shipment from Pimlico were Mate, Twenty Grand, Ladder, St. Brideaux, Surfboard and Anchors Aweigh.

A stall was prepared for Benjamin Block's Morstone on orders from Clarence Buxton, trainer, and the word came the horse would be shipped immediately after the race in which he was engaged today at Jamaica had been run.

At the present time it appears the Derby field will be:

From the East—Mate, Twenty Grand, Equipoise, Morstone, Surf Board, Ladder, Anchors Aweigh and Sweep All.

From the West—Pittsburger, Spanish Play, Insco, Boys Howdy, Up and Prince d'Armour.

12 or 13 Starters Is Lowest Estimate.

Others may start, but these are the prominent ones. E. R. Bradley will have no candidate, as he formally withdrew B'ar Hunter because of lameness and Barometer for lack of satisfactory training. The lowest estimate on the starters in the Derby is twelve or thirteen.

The track is muddy today and showers continue. The Western horses are well advanced in their training.

There was much interest here over the Preakness. Horsmen sought to find excuses for Twenty Grand and Equipoise especially at Pimlico. It was the general opinion that Twenty Grand would like the longer route in the Derby, as he is none too fast from the post and he always had a preference for the Churchill Downs track as it is much wider than Pimlico and the turns are more gradual.

Mate and Twenty Grand Made Equal Choices.

Shaw, of New York, and Kearney, of St. Louis, have made Mate, Preakness winner, and Twenty Grand equal at 5 to 2 choices this morning, and Equipoise at 4 to 1. Morstone is 20; Pittsburgher is held best of the Western candidates. In Louisville there was much activity on Twenty Grand and Mate but little money was showing up for Mate in the future books. Up is being carefully conditioned.

Crowds from out of town are gradually filling up the hotels. By Wednesday there will be little room left.

Probable Derby Field Is Indicated at Downs

Special to The Washington Post.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—The field for the fifty-sixth Derby to be run Saturday, according to the best information obtainable from all sources after a canvass of the track officials at Churchill Downs, trainers and owners on the ground, will line up as follows:

Horse and Jockey.	Today's odds.
Mate, George Ellis	5-2
*Twenty Grand, C. Kurtsinger	5-2
*Surf Board, McAtee	8-1
*Anchors Aweigh, No boy	25-1
Equipoise, Workman	5-1
Morstone, F. Catrone	20-1
Sweep All, E. Pool	20-1
Boys Howdy, G. Riley	20-1
Ladder, L. Schaeffer	10-1
Pittsburgher, C. Corbett	10-1
Insco, S. O'Donnell	20-1
Spanish Play, C. Landolt	15-1
Prince D'Amour, E. James	50-1
Don Leon, H. Fischer	50-1
Up, H. McHugh	20-1

*Greentree entry.

These prices are for pay or play betting, offered in the Thomas Shaw book and the Kavanaugh St. Louis book.

On the day of the derby, Twenty Grand, Surf Board and Anchors Aweigh, if he starts, will be coupled in the betting as the Greentree entry. In the future betting, it is horse for horse. The starting of Anchors Aweigh hinges on a muddy track, and Ladder on a fast track.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

A NEW note in the wrestling revival that has filled the arenas which the prize fight industry emptied in the past two years was sounded the other night in Montreal when Strangler Lewis, claimant of one of the two titles on the loose, sank his bicuspids into the biceps of one Henry Deglane, a native son, and thereby passed his championship, such as it was, on to the native son.

Whether the Strangler neglected to take the proper precautions in advance of the match or whether his hunger simply overcame him still is mooted, but the old game has come to a pretty pass when the champion, such as he is, can lose his title as the result of errant molars.

Wrestling these days is made of sterner stuff what with flying tackles, airplane spins, body slams, cement scowls and gargantuan grunts, phases of the old Graeco-Roman game that are responsible for the renaissance in the industry. It is just possible that the Strangler, one of the old school, was merely attempting to embellish his own repertoire with a novel feature in keeping with the trend of the game by his free-lance biting, but that, it seems, is without the pale of even the wrestling law.

Eats Self Out of Title

It is news when an old fellow like the Strangler eats himself out of a title, such as it is. Big League baseball rookies have been known to eat themselves out of the majors with their attacks on the victuals in spring training camp hotels but they may be excused on the grounds of apprenticeship. The Strangler should have known better. Unless, of course, the carniverous instinct of the wrestler went native.

The Strangler is one of the few of the old school to be active in these days of the wrestling reformation. Wladek and Stanislaus Zbyszko and Renato Gardini are others of the ere of the conventional half nelson, the crotch hold, the headlock and the flying mare, but they are in the camp of Jim Londos, who holds forth as the champion of Pennsylvania, New York and other Eastern points where Jack Curley has successfully resisted the invasions of the Sandow-Bowser troupe headed by Lewis, Gus Sonnenberg and Ed Don George.

St. Louis Is Stronghold

St. Louis and other points in the Southwest and Midwest will have none of Londos and the Curley troupe. Out there, the Strangler epitmozies all that is great in wrestling. When the game was at its depth five years ago, St. Louis was pulling 10,000 and 15,000 to the matches between Lewis and Joe Stecher, while it was a long wait between meals for the grovelers in the East.

Conversely, New York, Pennsylvania, and Washington among other Eastern seaboard watering places for the pachderms will have none of the Sandow-Bowser string. Boston is torn in a war between the two troupes, inasmuch as the Curley crowd presides over the big Boston garden and the Sandow combine has gained a footing by virtue of the fact that Gus Sonnenberg, one of its champions, galloped to football fame at Dartmouth in the neighboring hamlet of Hanover, N. H.

But the situation is all in the favor of Curley with his control of the Eastern Metropolises, where he has pulled 22,000 in New York and 15,000 in Philadelphia. So much so that the strange situation of Lewis challenging Londos is manifested daily in every town in which the former wrestles.

Has Rightful Claim

By lineal descent of the title, Lewis' championship claim is more worthy than Londos, who was set upon the throne by the action of the New York and Pennsylvania commissions after defeating Dick Shikat, a native Philadelphia and championship creation of the Pennsylvania commission.

In the era when wrestling recognized only one champion at a time, despite the fact that the title passed from the Zbyszkos to Lewis to Stecher and back again in a round robin with great frequency, Lewis tossed Stecher to win the title once more. In the face of the fact that wrestling merited only local interest at the time, and but one faction was in the field, there was none to dispute the Strangler's claim. Then, Sonnenberg sent Lewis to the hospital with his flying tackle, won the crown, such as it was, and forthwith took to barnstorming a la Lewis, Stecher and the Zbyszkos.

In the meantime, Dick Shikat had managed to gain the recognition of the friendly Pennsylvania commission and was established as world champion of Pennsylvania. Recognition by New York followed and there were two champions in the field, with Shikat's territory more remunerative than Sonnenberg's.

Londos Beat Shikat

Then Jim Londos toppled Shikat and succeeded to his title, but would have none of Sonnenberg. After traipsing about the country laying low all opposition with his flying tackle, Sonnenberg fell a victim to the same weapon as interpreted by

100,000 to See Amateurs Of U. S. and France in Bouts

CHICAGO, May 11 (U.P.).—The "Tex Rickard influence" has found its way into amateur boxing and the largest crowd that ever attended an amateur boxing tournament will witness tomorrow night's bouts between the United States and France at Soldier Field, weather permitting.

Unless rain drives the tournament indoors, a crowd of 100,000 is promised for the battle between the amateur champions of two nations. Twenty-one thousand reserved seats have been sold at $3, $2 and $1, and it is expected that more than 75,000 general admission seats will be sold at 50 cents. Some of these seats sold for $30 at the Dempsey-Tunney bout.

If rain interferes the bouts will be held indoors at the Chicago Stadium, where only 21,000 persons can gain adm

MORSTONE DEFEATED IN FIRST TEST AT DISTANCE

Derby Horse Wilts In Stretch

Beau Jolie, Favored by 14 Pounds, Is Easy Winner.

Block Colt Fails to Respond to Whip of Catrone.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, May 11 (A.P.).—Another prospective idol fell by the wayside at Jamaica today, when Benjamin Block's Kentucky Derby candidate, Morstone, failed in his first attempt to run farther than a sprinting distance.

For the first time in three starts, the flashy son of Morvich—Mormaw had to admit defeat, finishing two lengths behind the Newtondale Stable's Beau Jolie in a mile and 70-yard race known as the Ackroyd Handicap. The aged Greentree horse, Valorous, a jumper last season, was the only other starter, and was beaten 20 lengths for the place.

With a pull of 14 pounds in weight, Beau Jolie covered the distance in the good time of 1:43 over a slow track and paid 5 to 1. On the strength of his two sensational sprint victories, Morestone was held at 1 to 5.

Morstone Makes Fast Start.

Running his usual type of race, Morestone opened up a wide lead in the first furlong. Along the back stretch Frankie Cathrone had the Morvich offspring well in hand with Beau Jolie also running easily, a couple of lengths off the pace. Straightened out in the stretch, Tommy Malley challenged with the Newtondale colt. Catrone gave Morstone a belt of the whip, but the colt found 124 pounds and the distance too much, and Beau Jolie easily passed the odds-on-choice to score going away.

Up Gains Derby Backers By Easy Kentucky Win

Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., May 11 (A.P.).—Mrs. J. M. Crofton's Up, winner of the Agua Caliente Derby, showed up handsomely for his engagement in the Kentucky Derby renewal of Saturday when he easily defeated five older horses, including R. M. Eastman's Agua Caliente Handicap winner, Mike Hall, in the Dandelion Purse here today.

Prior to the race Trainer M. W. Buck was undecided as to his plan, but on the strength of his victory Up is now looked upon as a certain starter in the Downs classic. Up showed a pronounced liking for the soft going and led his field throughout for the mile trip to win by three lengths, with something in reserve.

Herbert M. Woolf's Best Man, the favorite, was second, a nose in front of D. D. Canfield's Kenashaw.

Mike Hall showed his usual sluggishness during the first part, but closed with a rush to finish fourth.

Up covered the mile in 1:41 3-5.

Georgetown Schools In Playground Meet

Rain halted the first of the annual elementary school meets conducted by the Municipal Playground Department yesterday. Schools from the Iowa Avenue Division were scheduled to compete, but playground officials postponed the games to a date to be announced when the thin-clad youngsters showed signs of being chilled.

Today schools from the Georgetown section will vie for honors on the Georgetown playground with the following schools being represented: Fillmore, Curtis-Hyde, Corcoran, Jackson, E. V. Brown, Grant, Tenley, Adams and Weightman. The first event will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Y. M. C. A. Enters 9 Men In A. A. U. Mat Tourney

Jewish Community Center Has Six Hopefuls in Wrestling Event Opening Tomorrow; Keen Rivalry in Bouts.

HAVING filed the largest number of entries as organizations, the Y. M. C. A. and Jewish Community Center are expected to prove prominent contenders for the lion's share of the titles to be contested tomorrow and Saturday nights in the first annual wrestling championships under auspices of the District of Columbia Association, A. A. U.

The bouts will begin tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Jewish Community Center Auditorium, Sixteenth and Q streets northwest, and finals will be held Saturday night.

Nine wrestlers have been nominated to represent the Y. M. C. A., while six will perform for the host organization. Other entrants will represent the Boys Club, Gallaudet College, Georgetown University and College Park A. C.

Heading the "Y" team are Sol Wiscoker and J. P. Broaddus, each 135 pounds; D. G. Shockley, 115 pounds, and C. L. Payne, 125 pounds. These four are expected to offer serious contention for the honors in their respective weight classes.

The J. C. C. group is headed by Jack Kosowsky 125 pounds, former University of Nebraska grapple veteran, who has won three bouts in easy fashion for the Sixteenth street team this year. Kosowsky is closely pressed for the No. 1 position by Dixie Goldman, unbeaten during his career in the 175-pound class. Charles Silverman, heavyweight, also is a prominent J. C. C. color-bearer.

Jim McNamara, chairman of the committee in charge, announced last night that all contestants will weigh in tomorrow afternoon at the Jewish Community Center between 2 and 6 o'clock.

C. U. Team in Meet At Philly Tomorrow

Catholic University's track and field athletics, seeking their fourth successive dual meet victory, depart this afternoon for Philadelphia, where tomorrow they engage the team of St. Joseph's College.

Despite the loss of Johnny Lyons, sprinter, who injured a leg muscle while running in the 100-yard dash against Villanova last Saturday, the Cardinals are confident of achieving their goal. Coach Dorsey has named the following to make the trip:

Capt. McGuigan, Gleason, Brennan and Davis, sprinters; Farris, McDonald, Connor and Garafalo, middle-distance men; Fraatz, Moser and Stines, hurdlers; Krick, jumper; Guarnieri, pole vaulter; Flynn, Lauer and McGrath, weight throwers.

For their efforts thus far the Cardinals can point to victories over Johns Hopkins, Gallaudet and Villanova. They were defeated by Maryland in their initial engagement.

the same thing in the third, with Owen up.

Alexander was charged with a third error in the third round on Myer's attempted delayed steal. After taking Sullivan's peg, he threw badly to Owen, who was covering second.

Spencer's liner, ending the Nats' fourth, almost knocked Koenig off his feet, but he hung on to the ball.

Alexander, who had fielded poorly in the first four rounds, redeemed himself to a certain extent in the fifth when, with the aisles packed and two out, he hustled over toward the foul line and made a one-hand grab of Sam West's bad-bounding grasser. It looked like a sure hit until "Alex" did his stuff.

Stone raced almost to the score board to make a fancy grab of Myer's liner in the sixth. It robbed Buddy of at least a double.

boxers and a tournament can draw $100,000, it is time to recognize amateur boxing as "big business." In this connection it is well to know that no professional bout this year has been able to draw a gate of as much as $70,000, and that includes lightweight and welterweight title bouts.

On the French team are a soldier aviator, son of a wealthy manufacturer of artificial legs, a hair dresser, a marble chisler who works for 14 cents a day, a machinist, a son of a World War veteran, a cabinetmaker and a plumber. Most of them are scientific boxers, although Fernand Laudrin, heavyweight champion, who is an aviator at Le Bourget Field, where Lindbergh landed, is reputed to have a punch.

mons, Cochrane and rest rest began to hit?"

Hornsby, making his first Eastern invasion as the pilot of the Cubs, thinks he will have a three-cornered fight with the Ians and Cardinals for the National League pennant.

As to other possible changes in the Chicago line-up, Hornsby laughed at the circulation of reports he intended to bench Hack Wilson, the 1930 home run king of the majors.

"The boys must have misunderstood me," he explained. "I have considered using Johnny Moore in Riggs Stephenson's place against right-hand pitching, while Stevie is in a slump, but as for replacing Wilson or abby Hartnett—they're my punch. Stephenson, you know, seldom plays much more than 100 games a season, anyway, and Moore may be the man to give him relief."

G. W. Netmen Oppose Presidents Here Today

George Washington's tennis team engages Washington and Jefferson at Columbia Country Club this afternoon in one of the Colonial's two remaining home matches. Play begins at 3 o'clock. The Colonial's need a victory today to make it possible to finish the season with better than a .500 average.

4 U. S. PROS NEAR LEAD ABROAD

J. Turnesa, H. Smith, Kirkwood, Manero Play in England.

SOUTHPORT, England, May 11 (A. P.).—The longest trail of golfers that ever wound over British fairways today played the first qualifying round in the big Southport tournament. The four Americans among the 300 seemed safe.

Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., led the American contingent, and for a time led the field with his 73 until 46-year-old Harry Ball, Lanchester, turned in his record score of 70 at Southport and Ainsdale. Horton Smith, and Joe Kirkwood, of New York, carded 78s today and Tony Manero, also of Elmsford, a 79. The performance of the last three were not particularly sparkling but seemed good enough to get them under 160, which probably will be the list for the 36 holes qualifying play.

Easier 18 Holes Today.

The Americans did their hardest round today and tomorrow will finish off the last 18 over the Hesketh course, which is shorter and much faster than the highly bunkered, wind-swept links of Southport-Ainsdale. Smith and Turnesa are members of the American Ryder Cup Team which will meet the British at Columbus, Ohio, in June and their play was watched closely.

Scoring was somewhat difficult today because of a strong southwest wind sweeping across the links.

None of the big names of British golf seemed on the border-line of failure tonight unless it was George Duncan, whose 80 at Hesketh indicated continued lack of his old form. He has been playing poorly all spring and has not been named for the British Ryder Cup Team.

A. J. Lacey turned in a nice 71 at Hesketh and Abe Mitchell and Aubrey Boomer had 74s. George Gadd carded a nice 75.

Gold Step, Favorite, Wins Aurora Feature

Aurora, Ill., May 11 (A.P.).—Gold Step, disqualified in his last out, won the Jubilee Parade feature at Exposition Park today in a driving finish with Watch On.

Gold Step was in the clear all the way and had enough left to hold Watch On when the latter made a determined bid in the stretch. Bud Broom was third. 8 lengths back of Watch On. Gold Step was heavily backed and paid $3.54 to win.

The track was muddy and horses getting away on top had a big advantage.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 11.—An evenly matched field of eight 3-year-olds, several of whom are Derby material, will match strides in the mile and a sixteenth of The Trail, an allowance affair, which features the program tomorrow. The Rose Island Handicap, a dash over the 6-furlong sprint distance, which carries a purse value of $1,500, received only three entrants in the overnight secondary event.

Although the racing strip remains muddy, limit entries were received in several of

TOURNAMENT TENNIS SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

Men, Women To Vie for Titles

Miss Dunham, Considine to Forfeit 1930 Honors.

Thursday Is Deadline for Singles Entries in Big Tourney.

LOCAL tournament tennis will make its bow Saturday afternoon when the third annual City of Washington championships will be started at the Reservoir, Potomac and Henry Park courts in men's and women's singles. Men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles will be started next Tuesday.

The singles end of the gigantic affair will be marked this year by the absence of the two defending champions—Bob Considine because of business reasons, and Josephine Dunham, who is now living in New York. Two of the most prized tennis trophies in this section, the Jock McLean and the D. C. Crain awards, will pass into new hands. Each must be won three times for permanent possession.

Charest to Return to Action.

Two notable additions are certain to be made to men's and women's singles. Clarence M. Charest, the 47-year-old one-armed veteran, four times holder of the District championship and once winner of the national veterans' title, will return to active competition. Charest made only one appearance in local tournament play here last summer in the District championship at Edgemore. He has been playing regularly this spring and has lost none of his old-time speed of foot and stroke.

Clara Tabler, the young California net product who is now living in Washington, will be entered in the women's singles and looms as one of the threats to succeed Miss Dunham. She hits harder than any of the local women players here and if she is able to control her speed may cause the local women stars much trouble.

Mitchell, Mangan Head Stars.

Dooly Mitchell and Tom Mangan will head an impressive list of players in the men's singles, which will include the names of Commander C. C. Gill, Bud Markey, Frank Shore, Maurice O'Neill, Colin Stam and Jack Purinton. Frances Walker, runner-up to Miss Dunham last year, will again compete, as will Mrs. Ruth Martinez, local public parks champion; Peggy Keyser, Mrs. Margaret Graham and Edith McKelvey.

With the absentation of Considine from the tournament, the team of Mangan and Considine will be temporarily dissolved. Mangan probably will confine his play to singles.

Entries continue to come in to John Ladd, 4422 Lowell street, and at Spaldings and the Tennis Shop. Singles entries close Thursday at 6 o'clock. The draw will be made Thursday night and pairings published in Friday morning's Post.

McMillen Thrown By Steele at Garden

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Ray Steele, of California, defeated Jim McMillen, Chicago, in the feature wrestling match at Madison Square Garden tonight before a crowd of 7,500. Steele threw McMillen in 1:05:27 of a finish match with a crotch and body hold. Steele weighed 214 pounds; McMillen, 215.

Other results were: Serge Kalmikoff, 245, Siberia, deefated Jim Ulinstock, 236, Oklahoma, in 3:46 of a finish match with a body slam. Rudy Dusek, 216, Omaha, Nebr., defeated Jean Bruce, 205, Germany, in 8:37 with an airplane spin and body slam. Norton B. Jackson, 294, New York Athletic Club, defeated Jack Burke, 205, Omaha, Nebr., in 6:11 with a head scissor and wrist lock. Richard Shikat, 217, Germany, drew with Sandor Szabovo, Hungary, in a time limit match of 30 minutes.

Women's Title Tourney Shifted to Chevy Chase

The Chevy Chase Club course will be the scene of the Women's District championships. Owing to the fact that the greens at the Congressional Country Club are undergoing reconstruction, a change was found necessary and the board of governors of the Chevy Chase Club consented to the use of the club's links by the Women's District Golf Association. Play will start May 26, as previously announced.

TITLE NEAR EASTERN'S GRASP

Western Is Conceded Small Chance of Winning Today.

WITH only the last place Western High School Team to be met, Eastern today is on the threshhold of its fourth consecutive high school series championship and its sixteenth straight series victory. The two schoolboy clubs meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Eastern Field with Eastern an overwhelming favorite to accomplish all the feats in view.

A fair fielding infield and Roy Yowell, catcher, are the lone assets Western can boast of this year, and then not always of its infield, which on more than one occasion in this series has thrown the ball game away.

Coach Guyon probably will not start Dick Lanahan, his pitching ace today. Bill Noonan did not work yesterday in the Alexandria game and doubtless will receive the call. Coach Moore, too, was undecided last night as to Western's pitching choice. However, Poore and Clarke both are doped to see duty.

While Western is facing the baseball champs, the order of things will be directly reversed as Western's tennis team meets Eastern's netmen. The matches will be played at the Monument courts. Eastern has only Gilbert Hunt in the way of good players, while Western has a well-rounded outfit, Everett Buscher, one of the best schoolboy netmen, playing well down the list.

Devitt Prep meets St. John's in the Prep School Tennis League in the only other schoolboy contest on today's card. The two strong teams meet on the courts at Congressional Country Club, with the odds leaning slightly in the direction of Devitt.

Episcopal High Nine Beats G. U. Prep, 5-0

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., May 11.—Georgetown Prep's Baseball Team was unable to make any headway against Episcopal High here this afternoon despite the fact that the two teams were credited with an equal number of hits, and so dropped a 5-0 decision to the home team in a well-played seven-inning game.

The feature of the contest was a triple play, the first of the schoolboy diamond year hereabouts, performed by Cleveland, Evans and Hooff in the fourth inning. Ragland hit a hard liner to Cleveland, who threw to Evans, catching Heekin off base, and Evans pegged it to Hooff, second baseman, to catch Moore.

ALEX. SENDS GOLFERS TO TOURNEY

Clift, Schneider Play in Scholastic Event

ALEXANDRIA Va., May 11.—Alexandria High School will send a golf team to the high school tournament to be held at Woodberry Forest Academy on Wednesday, it was announced today by Athletic Director Maurice Given.

Dick Cliff and Marshall Schneider will represent the Twins in this tourney. These two boys are rated as the best high school golfers in this sector. This is the first season the Maroon and White institution has entered the golf field.

Manager Ralph Scrivener, of the Alpha Delta Omega Nine, announced today his boys would play the Skinker Eagles to Edward Duncan Field next Saturday.

On May 30 the Fraters and the Columbias will meet in the Memorial Day attraction here. Terms for this game were arranged today. Leon Riley has been signed to play with Scrivener's team. Saturday the Fraters won from the Saks Clothiers in Washington, 9 to 7. Eliet Cabell starred. He made two triples.

Alexandria High School tossers will play Manassas High School on Wednesday afternoon. This is a district game.

V. P. I. RALLY BRINGS 4-3 VICTORY

Emory and Henry Is Beaten in Ninth on Error.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., May 11.—Virginia Polytechnic nine staged a two-run rally in the ninth inning here today to break its losing streak by a 4-to-3 win over Emory and Henry in the first of a two-game series. Going into the ninth one run behind, the Gobblers scored twice to win when Catcher Widner let Ramsey's peg to the plate get away from him and roll to the stands. Morgan and Tibbs were on base at the time.

It was a tough loss for Mackey, who had pitched steady ball all the way and allowed but six scattered bingles to match eight garnered by Emory. The visitors counted twice in the first round when Tyler tripled to score Marshall and came home on Ramsey's single.

V. P. I. presented the other tally when Chandler hit Mackey to force in Johnson, but the big Poly right-hander settled down to retire the side. Nicholas scored Palmer with a long drive in V. P. I.'s half of the first round and Capt. Bibb tripled to the stands to score Tibbs with the other tally in the seventh.

TULANE SEEN STRONG ON TRACK

Green Wave Threatens N. C. U. as Conference Champion.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 11 (A.P.).—Tulane, in addition to Auburn, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Louisiana State, is a dangerous contender for the Southern Conference track championship now held by North Carolina.

Tulane athletes revealed their all-round ability recently by downing Louisiana State for the first time in several years, 65⅓ to 46⅓.

The times and distances made by the Greenies in winning ten of the fourteen events were good enough to win or place high in all of the competitions on the conference program at Birmingham this week-end.

One of the most remarkable performances in this meet was the pole vaulting of Don Zimmerman, Tulane sophmore, and Gordy, of Louisiana State. Both cleared the bar at 13 feet ¾ inches. This is several inches higher than the winning height in any dual meet to date.

Seven Vaulters Threaten Mark.

Ruble and Arnold, of North Carolina; Reigels, of Alabama; Stewart and Stacey, of Auburn, and Yawn, of Louisiana State, are other threats to break the 13 feet 3 inch mark set by Odell, of Clemson, in 1928.

Based on their times and distances in this meet, both Tulane and Louisiana State will be strong in the century and furlong dashes, the quarter mile, the mile and 2-mile, shot put, javelin throw, broad jump and both hurdles.

Augusta Cadets Beat V. M. I. Freshmen, 10-6

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., May 11.—The Augusta Military Academy defeated the V. M. I. Freshmen on a wet diamond on Alumni Field to the tune of 10-6. Bruce, A. M. A. hurling star, held the Lexingtonians in check throughout the entire fiasco by the use of a remarkable knuckler, which caused the Keydets to pop out continually to the infielders.

V. M. I. made eight hits in the game and four of these were contributed by Smith, who, incidentally, had a perfect day at bat, and Ward, V. M. I. left fielder, got three of the remaining four. The Fort Defiance boys did the big tallying in the fourth inning when they pushed eight runs across the plate, made possible by three hits, two errors and a couple of free walks. Glover, A. M. A. third baseman, led his mates in hitting, by garnering three hits out of five times at bat, while Sutton received the field honors by converting three potential bungles into putouts.

Hyattsville Defeats Business High, 7-6

An over-confident Business High School team was handed a 7-6 defeat yesterday afternoon on the Monument Grounds by Hyattsville High despite a rally in the last half of the ninth which all but turned the verdict. Going into their last inning with the Suburbanites leading 7—3, Bill Duryee drove a tremendous home run, which cleared the bases of two colleagues, Schneider and Giovanetti.

After two out had been called Kengla singled and stole second and third, but the embryo tieing run was never scored as Anderson, left fielder for Hyattsville, made a sensational catch of Garner's almost sure hit to end the game.

Business was guilty of seven errors, three of these coming in the third inning when the eventual winners scored four runs. Hyattsville was outhit 12 to 10, but played more airtight and heady ball throughout.

HOMERS GIVE EASTERN VICTORY

Alexandria High Nine Bows, 3-1; Snyder, Moore Star.

TWO home runs, by Bob Snyder and Bill Moore, enabled Eastern High to turn in a 3-1 victory over Alexandria High yesterday afternoon in a well-played ball game, which was called at the conclusion of the seventh inning because of rain. The game was played at Eastern Field.

As it has done four times this year, Eastern won the game in one inning. Yesterday it was the fourth session. Taylor started the rally by singling to center. Snyder then drove a long homer to left center, and Moore followed this blow up with one of equal length to right center.

Holland Shines on Mound.

Holland, Eastern's infielder turned pitcher, did not allow a hit during his four-inning stay in the box. He was relieved by Phillips, who was nicked for a hit in the seventh, the entire quota of the losing team.

Moore was the batting hero of the day, bouncing out a single besides his homer to record two of Eastern's four hits. The fielding feature of the game was Bruin's one-handed stab of Kessler's drive in the fifth.

BURNSIDE ON STAND IN TRIAL OF HAYNES

Government's Case Against Former Head of Bank Moves Rapidly.

With Howard Burnside, formerly an assistant cashier of the Farmers & Mechanics branch of the Riggs National Bank and now assistant manager there, on the stand to identify records from the bank, District Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday moved rapidly in the presentation of the Government's case against Harry V. Haynes, former president of the Farmers & Mechanics Bank, who is indicted on charges of misapplication of funds of the bank.

Practically the entire morning was spent in picking a jury and in the opening statement of Mr. Rover. The jury is composed of Joseph Brashears, Thomas F. Costello, Russell F. DeAtley, Alfred C. Hayden, Arthur M. Flatequol, Mrs. Esther L. Jones, Edward W. Gray, Donald C. Crist, R. H. Gunther, Arthur E. Hack, John C. Hall and Ernest Kilton.

In his opening statement to the jury the district attorney outlined the operations through which Haynes is alleged to have caused the bank a loss of $100,000, and in which $150,000 is alleged to have been mishandled by him.

At one time, in his statement, Mr. Rover referred to "thievery" and upon the objection of H. Winship Wheatley, senior member of Haynes' counsel, agreed to let it be stricken from the records. After that he referred to the manipulations of various sums of money as money "illegitimately" obtained, and used.

Mr. Haynes took a keen interest in the proceedings. He held in his hand a sheat of note paper and jotted down from time to time notes on what was being said to the jury.

Mr. Rover traced money allegedly abstracted from the bank to an "H. V. Haynes Syndicate" account, and in another instance showed that a $33,000 check had been charged to the "special" account of Haynes' wife. Mr. Rover was quick to absolve Mrs. Haynes from any wrongdoing, though, for he immediately said to the jury that Mrs. Haynes had no part in the transaction.

Because of the great amount of documentary evidence expected to figure in the case, attorneys indicated that the actual trial might take the better part of two weeks. Witnesses and records from New York City and records from brokerage houses and other banks are expected to play a part in the trial.

There are 13 counts in the indictment on which Haynes is being tried.

Policemen Freed In Death of Man

Middlethon and Pequette Exonerated on Charge of Beating Victim.

Patrolmen J. J. Middlethon and R. J. Pequette, of the Fourth Precinct, were exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury from any blame in connection with the death of Jacob Smith, 35 years old, colored, of 5 Crabtree court southwest, who died in Gallinger Hospital Saturday from a fractured skull.

William Johnson and Daniel Marshall, companions of Smith, said they were stopped by the policemen at South Capitol and L streets early Saturday, and charged the officers beat them with leather straps attached to their batons. Johnson said he saw one of the policemen strike Smith.

The policemen denied striking the man. They said he was drunk and fell as he started to run from them. The policemen were represented by James A. O'Shea and Alfred Goldstein.

P. U. C. Chooses Fisher On Traffic Committee

Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, was named yesterday by the commission to represent the body on the District traffic coordinating committee, which will make preparations to put the new traffic law into effect July 1.

The committee was organized by the District Commissioners, and includes representatives of the Traffic Bureau, the corporation council's office, the Police Department and other District agencies concerned.

The information will be formally filed, probably tomorrow, depending on the convenience of the counsel of Mr. Colliflower. Argument will likely not be heard for a week or ten days.

Man Is Fined $45 For Accosting Girl

Effort to Date Up Strange Maiden on Street Ends in Police Court.

The market quotations on the price per word for addressing unknown young women on the streets were decidedly bullish yesterday in Police Court. When the market closed last night the prohibitive cost of $15 a word was the closing price.

Walter A. Beavans, 32 years old, got into the market with a three-word splurge, and it cost him $45. The three words, which are well on their way to a place in the Hall of Words, were: "Hello, baby! Lonesome?"

The young woman may have been lonesome, but her screams soon brought her company in the person of a First Precinct policeman, who placed Beavans under arrest for disorderly conduct. He refused to put up $25 to secure his release and was haled into court yesterday. "There's too much of this going on," Judge John McMahon said; in levying the fine. The complaining witness was Miss Margaret Stone, 19 years old.

BUDGET ESTIMATES DUE THIS MORNING

Hearings Are Opened, With District Auditor Busy Rechecking Figures.

Estimates of the District government for the fiscal year 1933 will be released by the District Commissioners this morning, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman, announced yesterday. The total is expected to be in the neighborhood of $60,000,000, of which about $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 is to be slashed before the figures are sent to the Budget Bureau.

The hearings were opened yesterday morning, however, despite the delay in announcing the totals. Meanwhile, Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, was rechecking his figures to correct certain errors in compilation discovered Saturday.

These hearings will consume at least three weeks, it is estimated, although sessions are being held every morning and afternoon. Daniel E. Garges, executive secretary of the board, progressed only through the salary items yesterday.

Dr. William C. Fowler, health officer, will be the next department head to be heard.

A chart showing distribution of expenditures by the various departments of the District government was released yesterday by Maj. Donovan for the fiscal year 1930.

By far the largest single item was education, which took 32.8 per cent of the District appropriation; the Police and Fire Departments and associated agencies took 16.1 per cent; highways, 12.8 per cent; public welfare, 12.1 per cent; recreation, 6.6 per cent; public service departments, 3.2 per cent; and miscellaneous expenses, 0.4 per cent.

Triangle Parking Area to Be Studied

Trade and Civic Bodies to Plan Solution at Meeting Tomorrow.

Trade and civic organizations will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the board rooms of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association to discuss the parking problem that is expected to arise in the new triangle area.

Parking places for 5,428 cars may be required for employes in the new Government buildings in the triangle area. This estimate is on the basis of the survey made last year under the direction of Prof. Miller McClintock, traffic expert of Harvard University. The requirement of Government employes will be more than half of the available parking spaces to be provided, under present plans, in the entire area, according to the survey.

Representatives of the trade and civic organizations will meet, at the invitation of the board of governors of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, to work out some solution of the problem. Among the organizations to be represented will be the Washington Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Citizens' Associations.

Injury to Schoolboy Basis of $10,000 Suit

A $10,000 damage suit was filed yesterday against Elizabeth McSherry, of Wisconsin avenue near Garfield street northwest, by Lawrence Ferrel, 8 years old, through his next friend, Youral P. Ferrel, who charged that the defendant drove through a school boy patrol, and struck the boy with the result that he suffered a broken leg.

MRS. CALHOUN TIRES UNDER QUESTIONING

Complaining Witness in Trial of Sculptor, and Others, Still on Stand.

Mrs. Clarence C. Calhoun, complaining witness in the trial of W. Clark Noble, internationally known sculptor, and four others on a charge of conspiring to blackmail the Calhouns, gave indications yesterday that her nerves were beginning to strain under the continuous examining of attorneys for the defense.

She has now spent two entire court days on the witness stand, answering a barrage of questions about the conduct of the Women's Universal Alliance and the Women's National Foundation, organizations with which she was actively associated. There is no end yet in sight for the dismissal of Mrs. Calhoun as a witness, because only one defense attorney has completed his questioning.

Richard L. Merrick, first defense lawyer to question Mrs. Calhoun, has finished, and Attorney Paul J. Sedgwick took up where he left off. When Mrs. Calhoun expressed the fear that she was about to be overcome by her ordeal, Justice Jesse Adkins adjourned court yesterday. She will resume the stand today.

Testimony yesterday showed that a check for $30,000 was about to be tendered several of the indicted persons when Department of Justice agents stepped in and placed them under arrest. At the time the agents, according to counsel, had lured the five defendants to an office in the Munsey Building.

The merriment that marked Mrs. Calhoun's first day on the stand was missing yesterday, except in one instance. That was when Mrs. Calhoun testified concerning a young girl lying under Capt. Calhoun's bed while Mrs. Anna Hillenbrand, one of the defendants, talked to him. The bedroom scene was enacted because of the illness of Capt. Calhoun, Mrs. Calhoun testified. She also testified that Mrs. Hillenbrand represented herself as intermediary for W. Clark Noble and his wife, Emile B. Noble.

The girl was placed under the bed to take down in shorthand the conversations that were carried on, Mrs. Calhoun said, and another girl was placed behind a door in the room, also to take down the talk. Just what was the nature of the conversations did not develop yesterday.

The other defendants are James F. Bird and Stephen A. Armstrong, jr.

The accident occurred on Sixteenth street, about 200 feet north of the overpass bridge which runs over Military road.

Mrs. Jones and Bernice were said to be resting comfortably at their home in Takoma Park, Md., last night. They were given first-aid treatment at Walter Reed Hospital, as was William Bond, driver of the truck.

The latter suffered a broken nose, while Mrs. Jones and her daughter were treated for lacerations and shock. Bond, according to police, lives on Piney Branch road near Venable place northwest.

A police boat dragged the river yesterday and last night in the vicinity of Fort Foote, but was unable to locate the body.

Deputy Sheriff Garrison is holding De La Vega because of a conflict in stories among members of the party. Miss Schisler said Gregory and De La Vega had an argument before he was missed from the boat. Stories told by Walsh and De La Vega, which tally in every respect, said that Gregory fel loverboard while trying to raise the anchor.

De La Vega gave his address as Biltmore street near Nineteenth street northwest. Gregory lived on Mount Pleasant street near Kenyon street northwest.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THOSE NEWSPAPER GOLF LESSONS.

MY Golf is increasingly awful—
It's due to be worse, I'm afraid;
The lessons I get in the Eagle
Don't jibe with the ones in the Blade.

I read how to putt in the Bugle
And how to proceed to make par,
But find that it doesn't agree with
The dope that I get in the Star.

I study the drive in the Standard,
I read how it's done in the Bee,
But somehow it isn't at all like
The lessons the Sun gives to me.

Approach shots I get from the Beagle,
My trap shots I get from the Press,
But just when I get them I'm thrown off
My form by the Herald-Express.

* * * *

MY stance I extract from the Pilot,
But somehow it tends to confuse
Because it is nothing at all like
The stance as explained in the News.

The backswing's explained in the Transcript,
And also explained in the Scout,
But reading them both, I can never Tell just what it all is about.

The grip that I get through the Banner,
The Clarion, Graphic, et al,
Conflicts with the grip as it's given
Tonight in the Beacon and Call.

"Stand close to your ball," says the Leader—
"Get six feet away," says the Hour,
Which clearly is one of the reasons
My golf is consistently sour.

"Dig into the ground," says the Statesman,
"Don't take any turf," warns the Times;
It's reading those newspaper lessons
That causes my major golf crimes.

THE EXCEPTION.

Once there was a chief of trade
Who stood out from the pack—
He didn't know what killed good times
Or what would bring them back!

WONDER what Elder Will Hays, the czar of motion pictures, thinks about when he reads the crime news in the daily papers and then dashes to the office to okay another gangster film?

TWEET! TWEET!

"With the sun beaming gloriously in the heavens over Park avenue, a gentle springtime breeze stirring the rarefied air of that de luxe social thoroughfare, the bride entered the exclusive edifice. What an ideal day for a wedding! It seems as if Fate and the weather man had joined forces to provide the happy couple with a perfect springtime day."—New York American.

It was a nice day in Main Street, too.

The Russians have found a way to produce rubber from oil. The kind that snaps at capital, of course.

POSSIBLY the decline in American Can common stock is due to the fact that most of the world's succotash and apple sauce is now being delivered to the public through the daily brokerage house letters.

40 YEARS AGO IN NEW YORK.

De Wolf Hopper was doing "Wang" at the Broadway; Roland Reed was in "Lend Me Your Wife" at the Star; E. H. Sothern was at the Lyceum in "Captain Lettarblair," and Russell's Comedians were at the Fourteenth Street Theater. Incidentally, the Giants were playing St. Louis in "the Grand League Championship Game," admission 50 cents and 25 cents, at the Polo Grounds.

DOUTHITT IS CITED IN CONTEMPT CASE

Publisher Fails to Appear and Later Is Given Until May 19 to Report.

The District grand jury yesterday waited one hour for Harry Douthitt, Blue Coat editor, and at one time a militant dry crusader, to appear in answer to a summons and tell the jury what he knows, if anything, of graft and vice in Washington.

At the expiration of that time the jury quickly drafted a contempt order and filed into the courtroom of Justice Peyton Gordon to present it. The justice read over the report, asked Assistant District Attorney William H Collins about the type of service the marshals obtained on Douthitt in serving the summons, and then indicated that he would sign it.

The formal order was then presented, and Douthitt was given until May 19 to appear and show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for failing to appear. It is expected he will plead that his recent illness, caused by some one striking him on the head with a piece of piping, rendered him unable to make the trip from Philadelphia, where he was served.

Summonses to appear before the grand jury are, in effect, orders of the District Supreme Court, and Douthitt will be taken into court on the contempt charge if he has no good excuse for his failure to appear. His absence temporarily brought to a halt the jury's investigation into veiled charges about the First Precinct police.

Douthitt later repudiated the stories credited to him about "ice bills" that must be paid by dive keepers and others to run their places.

The Post wired Mr. Douthitt yesterday in Philadelphia asking him for a statement regarding his failure to appear before the grand jury. An unsigned telegram was received which read: "Mr. Douthitt is unable to leave sick bed as per doctor's orders. The court was notified of his inability to respond."

TAKOMA PARK GROUP GETS NOMINATIONS

Citizen's Association Plans for Elections; Changes Made in By-Laws.

New officers, to serve during the next year, were nominated last night at a meeting of the Takoma Park, Md. and D. C., Citizens Association in the Takoma Park Branch Library.

Those nominated were S. E. Blassingham, for president; Bert V. Andrews, first vice president; Mrs. Alcena Lamond, second vice president; William Green, secretary, and Samuel Handelsman, treasurer. Mr. Andrews and John Walker were nominated as delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Several changes in the organization's by-laws and constitution were adopted. The date of meeting was changed from the first Monday in each month to the second Tuesday, and the date for the election of officers was extended until June.

The association adopted a resolution asking the County Commissioners of Montgomery County, Md., to pave Philadelphia avenue in Takoma Park, making it a part of the Maryland highway system.

Plans for a Fourth of July celebration were discussed and Capt. L. C. Boyer was elected general chairman of a committee to arrange the program.

It was suggested by Dr. W. S. Hocker, a member of the association, that the aid of Boy Scouts be enlisted to help in the 1931 clean-up campaign.

The original Washington Elm was torn down several years ago after standing more than a century and a half near Cambridge Common.
